Borough Delegation Tries To Convince State Council Housing Figure is Too High

A small Borough delegation, led by Mayor Barbara Sigmund, traveled to Somerset County Community College on Monday afternoon to try to convince the state Council on Affordable Housing that the Mount Laurel number of 527 assigned to the Borough is just too high.

At a public hearing — one of three such hearings being held in the state — the mayor submitted calculations showing there were 10,255 private sector jobs in the Borough in 1985, not the 16,383 cited by the Council.

Figures compiled by Township Administrator Mark Gordon indicated that nearly 6,000 persons counted by the Department of Labor in the Borough's work force actually worked in neighboring municipalities.

The borough also questioned Labor Department calculations that showed Princeton Borough gaining 5,412 jobs between 1977-1985 while Plainsboro gained 2,000 and South Brunswick 3,304.

The mayor, asking Council members to look closely at the numbers, said the Borough would accept a decision that it provide the opportunity for the construction of 120 affordable housing units under Mount Laurel II. This is the figure designated as its accumulated deficit from the past. But she rejected the figure of 407 that the Council has stated is the Borough's proposed need.

The formula being used by the Council on Affordable Housing to set the Mount Laurel numbers in towns and cities throughout the state takes into consideration not only growth in employment but also the capacity of a community to provide housing in terms both of physical space and financial ability.

Delegation from Colmar Wined and Dined Here

The delegation of 11, including the mayor, arrived in Princeton on a perfect Friday in June to be wined, dined and feted by town and gown. They came, via New York City and the opening of an exhibition at the New York Public Library, from Colmar in Alsace.

With a television special this week about Bartholdi and his statue, and plans for the "Today" show to visit Colmar, there will be few around by July 4 who won't know that Colmar is the birthplace of Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, the sculptor of the Statue of Liberty.

It wasn't entirely clear who had convinced the Alsatians to come to Princeton — which has no known historical connection with the Statue of Liberty — but everyone appeared glad to see them.

Assembled at the Nassau Inn were representatives of Princeton Uni-

Board Approves Two Widely Differing Projects: A Bank on Nassau and Building Lots in Township

Two widely differing proposals — one for a bank to replace a gas station at the commercial edge of Nassau Street, and the other for 50 large lots in one of the last undeveloped areas at a far corner of the Township — were the focus of Planning Board attention last week. Both sites present difficulties which were thrashed out beforehand with municipal staff, with the result that both received non-binding nods of approval.

E. R. Keller & Company, purchaser of the Gulf Station at Nassau and Maple Street, intends to relocate the Victorian house it saved from demolition at the very corner of the lot. According to Michael Burns, architect for the project, putting the house at the corner and adding a porch part way around it will create a natural "transition" between commercial Nassau Street and the residences on Maple Street.

The size of the lot, the dimension of the house (which will face Maple Street), the need for parking in the rear, the expense of moving the stone gas station even a few feet, and the intent to add a porch somewhat similar to the original, all conspire to put the house right up against the sidewalk — not the most desirable solution in the view of the planners.

Equally dismaying to the board initially was the announcement that an apartment originally proposed for the third floor of the house would be eliminated because of a proposed tenant who would use the entire space in both buildings. Mr. Keller hinted at a truly "Princeton" bank using the whole facility and needing all the space for its commercial and loan departments to make that a viable possibility.

Board member James Sayen said he was "upset" that no apartment would be provided, and it was his understanding that residential use was the intention of the "adopt-a-house" ordinance. But Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund replied that preservation of structures in the Borough "we would like to see saved" was the primary purpose of the ordinance. She added that the provisions of today's building code make it "extremely difficult" to maintain third floor residences, because of the need for fire escapes and other structural requirements.

Mr. Keller reminded the board that there had not been residential use on the site previously and said he hoped his firm would be providing a certain number of units within a year."

Borough Councilman Marvin Reed, speaking as a neighbor, told the board: "The neighborhood has come to

Officials Ask DOT Aid On Bridge Rebuilding

Hoping to persuade the new head of the state Department of Transportation that the design of the Harrison Street Bridge replacement should be more in keeping with the original, a delegation of Borough and Township officials met with Commissioner Hazel Gluck last week.

According to Planning Board Chair Hans K. Sander, the Commissioner took lots of notes and although she suggested that they look to the county, the two municipalities and the university for the extra $350,000 it would cost to provide the desired arching and a second sidewalk, she did not shut the door on further discussions.

Taking part in the discussions were Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund, Township Committeemen Thomas Poole and William Cherry, Township Administrator James Pascale, and Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser. A representative of Congressman James Courter was also on hand, Mr. Sander said.

Although the Harrison Street Bridge is a county bridge and was closed by county officials last July for safety reasons, the design and engineering of a new bridge is under a state contract to an outside firm. Eighty percent of the construction cost will come from federal funds, with the remainder borne by the state and county.

State and county officials support a two-lane span with one six-foot sidewalk and shallow arches at a price tag of approximately $2.35 million. Municipal officials and Planning Board members favor deeper arches and a decorative railing. The University has asked for a second sidewalk to provide bicycle and pedestrian access for graduate students on both sides of the lake. It also needs headroom beneath the bridge to accommodate its rowing crews and has said it would contribute $10,000 to gain the "amenities" that state and county officials are balking at providing.

The Township believes that federal officials would be willing to pay for the design elements that are being requested, but the request must come from the state. One of the issues discussed on Monday, according to Mr. Sander, was the fact that the Township all along has wanted seven-foot arches (the existing arches are eight feet).

The original design presented was entirely flat, but a compromise presented in March showed arches of 4.2 feet. What Mr. Sander objects to is that the state, on its own, without consulting the Township, told the federal government that two-foot arches would be satisfactory. Thus the Federal Highway Authority has come up with an additional $100,000 for this amount of arching, which Mr. Sander feels "may be it," as far as additional federal money is concerned.

Commissioner Gluck said she would be willing to coordinate a "coalition" made up of county, Borough, Township, and University officials to seek funds for the sidewalk and arches. But she made it clear that state taxpayers should not have to pay for the extras.

Mayor Sigmund said that if the money is not available she would favor the original design.

Hearing

Part of this formula relates to aggregate income (per capita income times population), which is relatively high in Princeton Borough.

"There are a good number of people in town with very high incomes," said Councilman Marvin Reed. "But we have at least 30 percent of our population in the low and low-moderate income range."

The mayor said that growth in commercial ratables would be a better way to assess responsibility than a figure based on aggregate income, particularly since there is no way a municipality can tap into such income.

The property tax — the only tax available to a municipality to fund anything, including new housing — would hit hardest those people in the lower end of the economic scale.

The mayor also said at the hearing that Princeton Borough would prefer to be a receiver municipality. This means that other municipalities, which collect developer fees, could transfer these fees to a "buy-down" in the Borough. Municipalities are allowed, by state law, to use up to 50 percent of their Mount Laurel obligation in towns other than their own.

The next step in the battle to bring down the numbers, said Mr. Reed, is for the Borough to state its position in writing. It must then await the adoption of the final resolution in late summer and, at that point, meet again with the state body.

Then, given the final formula and numbers, it must decide whether to stay with the Council on Affordable Housing or go back to Judge Eugene Serpentelli to resolve the final number in court.

Program in Rocky Hill On Medieval Cooking

The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present a program for children ages seven and older, "Medieval Cooking" with Dina Roth, on Monday, June 30 at 10:30 a.m. Participants will learn to make "foyles," spiced pancakes similar to crepes that are layered with an unusual filling of brown sugar and candied ginger. Children should wear old clothes. Registration is required.

The program is free and open to the public. To register or for further information call the library at 924-7073.

Designation of Redevelopment Areas Asked In Order to Float Bond for Borough Housing

Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund has asked the Princeton Regional Planning Board to designate certain parts of the Borough as redevelopment areas. This is a necessary step prior to the Mercer County Improvement Authority's (MCIA) floating of the $5.7 million bond issue needed to finance the Borough's affordable housing program.

The redevelopment area would include the sites of the Borough's proposed infill affordable housing program: John and Clay Streets, the Maclean Street parking lot, the basketball court on Hamilton Avenue across from the Westminster Choir College, and Shirley Court. The Borough owns all the sites, except for Shirley Court. Negotiations for its purchase have been underway with owners Benjamin Kahn and Paul Harvey for a number of months.

The mayor asked that the Planning Board take action at its July 17 meeting so that the Borough's short-term bonding could be completed before September 1. This is the cutoff point after which municipalities may no longer earn money through arbitrage.

"We have had an extremely difficult time putting together a program that, at its best, will build up to 84 low, moderate and middle income housing units, and which might rescue some housing in the John-Witherspoon area," the Mayor told the Board.

Quarry Park Dropped. She confirmed that the Borough has dropped Quarry Park as a site for the housing, and said that the Borough was hoping to use money gained through arbitrage to buy land that would replace the park.

There are several people interested in selling such land, she said, but the sites would not hold as many as the 16 units that had been planned for the park.

Borough Councilwoman Mildred Trotman presented the Planning Board with a survey prepared by Penney Carter, president of the Witherspoon-Jackson Development Corporation.

Reminding the Board that the John-Witherspoon area is the historic home of the black and Italian population in Princeton, Ms. Trotman pointed out the extraordinary recent leap in home prices in the neighborhood.

Earlier this year, a house at 29 Maclean Street, assessed at $52,200, sold for $91,500. One next door, at 31 Maclean, was assessed at $48,200 and sold for $90,000.

Today, the house at 31 Maclean is on the market again. It's still assessed at $48,200, but the owners are asking $135,000 for it. A house at 72 Lytle Street is on the market for $149,900, while $125,000 is being asked for a house at 7 Green Street. Its assessed value is $51,300.

Price Surge. The prices in this neighborhood of modest homes on small lots have been escalating for years. However, the increase has been gradual compared with the surge in prices now underway.

For example, in 1985, a house at 161 John Street, assessed at $49,400, sold for $65,000. And in December, 1984, the house at 7 Green, assessed then as now at $51,300, sold for $64,000.

In 1983, of the nine houses in the neighborhood that changed hands, only three were bought for as much as $10,000 over the assessed valuation.

Mayor Sigmund has been focusing attention on attempting to "buy down" homes in the neighborhood to keep them in the affordable range. To this end, she has asked mayors of neighboring municipalities to use their Mt. Laurel credits (and the money they anticipate from builders) to buy down homes in the Borough. Mayor Sigmund reports that several mayors have expressed interest in the idea.

Montgomery Township to File Suit in Protest Of State's Condemnation of Lands for S-92

Montgomery Township will file suit this week in Federal District Court against the New Jersey Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration. The lawsuit is in protest against the state's effort to condemn land for use as a possible S-92 right-of-way.

According to Montgomery Township Committeeman Daniel Huttar, who has long been active in Montgomery's efforts to get the state to use a more regional approach toward area highway design, Montgomery will also file a protest in Somerset County Court where the condemnation procedure will be heard on August 8.

Montgomery learned last month that the state DOT had offered an unspecified amount of money to Hilton Realty to obtain a 300-foot right-of-way through a tract of land intended for development by Alf Ahrahamsen. The tract is in Montgomery's apartment zone and is one of two sites selected to produce low and moderate income housing under the Township's voluntary Mt. Laurel compliance plan.

Mr. Huttar points out that the condemnation site does not line up to the east or to the west with two other areas that have been acquired by the DOT from developers, allegedly for S-92. The 14 acres that Calton Homes sold to the DOT for $1 lie next to the Princeton-Montgomery border and would make possible the "straddle" alignment that has been vigorously opposed by Herrontown Road residents whose homes would be affected.

Different Alignment. Similarly, to the east, the 150-

Smoke Detectors Statewide

A measure that would require every home in the state to be equipped with smoke detectors has been passed by the New Jersey Senate. It would require detectors in all one- and two-family homes in the state.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. John Caufield, D-Essex, said the bill would not require annual inspections to determine compliance. However, persons who did not comply would be forced to install smoke detectors when they sold their homes.

Princeton Borough presently requires that smoke detectors be installed in all homes. It is expected that the Township will pass a similar law shortly.

Koenig is Prosecutor

The state Senate has approved the nomination of Mercer County Counsel Paul T. "Pete" Koenig to become the next Mercer County prosecutor. The Hopewell resident succeeds Philip Carchman of Princeton, who resigned early in the year to become a Superior Court judge.

Tax Amnesty Legislation

The New Jersey Assembly has passed a hill providing a 90-day amnesty period for tax evaders while setting up harsher penalties against those who continue to evade payment.

The measure would instruct the Taxation Division to institute a 90-day amnesty period that would permit persons to pay back taxes without facing penalties. However, they would still owe interest on the payment.

The legislation was approved 43-17. It now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Host Liability Limit

The state Assembly has unanimously passed a measure to limit a host's responsibility for accidents caused by a drunken guest.

The legislation stipulates that a social host will not be held liable if the blood alcohol concentration of the driver is less than .10 percent. If the level is between .10 and .15, the victim must prove that the person was visibly drunk at the party. If a driver is above the .15 level, the assumption may be made that the host could tell his guest was drunk.

Because the Assembly bill includes a provision missing from the Senate-passed measure, it must now be reviewed by the Senate before being sent to the governor for consideration.

Two-Term Limit

Sen. Louis Bassano, R-Union, has introduced legislation to change the state constitution to allow a governor to serve more than two consecutive four-year terms.

In order to get the constitutional question on the ballot, the bill must pass both houses by a three-fifths vote. It can also get on the ballot if the bill passes with a simple majority in each house in two successive years.

Veto on School Checks

Gov. Thomas H. Kean has conditionally vetoed legislation that would require criminal background checks on those applying to work at public schools in the state or state-operated educational institutions.

The governor said he supports the bill in concept, but asked for technical changes in the legislation.

foot wide swath conveyed to the state by Larry Gardiner, developer of the Manors at Montgomery, would also facilitate the straddle alignment. The proposed condemnation extends on a more northerly line into Montgomery and would not seem to be in keeping with the destination of the other two land conveyances, Mr. Huttar points out.

But the lawsuit that will be filed this week charges that the state is acting in an illegal manner in condemning a portion of the Ahrahamsen tract before the draft environment impact statement has been issued. "It is our contention," Mr. Huttar says, "that for the state to spend money to condemn land biases the objectivity of its environmental study."

Federal highway law states that it must first be proved through environmental impact study that a roadway will not adversely affect the area before the state may proceed with efforts to obtain the right-of-way for the property by condemnation.

Residents of the Calton Homes development known as Montgomery Woods will join Montgomery Township as plaintiffs in the action. These residents purchased townhouses in the development believing that the preferred alignment, as indicated by Calton Homes conveyance of 14 acres for the purpose, would be in the direction of Kingston Trap Rock lands. If instead the alignment is to go along a route indicated by the condemnation proceedings, their townhouses would be next to the highway.

PRESERVATION SOUGHT: Remnants of Princeton at the turn of the century, these two barns between Dickinson Street and the College Road apartments opposite McCarter Theatre have been scheduled for demolition by Princeton University. Objections from neighbors, and the fact that the barns are in an historic district protected by the Borough's new preservation ordinance have placed the matter on the agenda of the Historic Preservation Committee for Monday night. The Committee meets at Borough Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Last year, Montgomery hired New York attorney Michael Gerrard, whose firm was successful in the battle to halt the Westway project, as its representative in matters pertaining to the proposed dualization of Route 206 as well as S-92. Township Attorney Kristina Hadinger is also involved in preparations for the lawsuit.

Letter to Governor. Meanwhile, Montgomery, Rocky Hill and Princeton Borough are co-signers of a letter to Gov. Kean asking for the opportunity to express their views on DOT proposals for Routes 206, S-92 and the Somerset Expressway. Princeton Township is not a signatory, because members of Township Committee are not wholly in accord with the views expressed.

The letter states: "While the need for improvement to the Central New Jersey highway system is widely accepted, we believe that current State plans for Routes 206, S-92 and the Somerset Expressway can only increase traffic and congestion with devastating results to our communities."

In keeping with previous highway policy statements signed by the four municipalities, this one maintains that the construction of a four-lane S-92 into Princeton and Montgomery will not serve "a significant east-west traffic flow," which the DOT believes is the purpose of the highway. "To the contrary," the municipalities argue, "it appears that most traffic projected for the proposed Route S-92 will travel a north-south route to the Franklin, Somerville, Hillsborough area.

Montgomery and Rocky Hill support a two-lane road along the Princeton-Montgomery border and relocating a four-lane highway through Franklin Township on a more direct route to Somerville and the several interstate highways to the north. Princeton Borough and Princeton Township have both signed highway policy statements endorsing this concept, but members of both governing bodies are dubious of the success of this approach.

They also believe S-92 is necessary to relieve congestion in Princeton, and don't want these other efforts to interfere with its construction.

Clubs Do Discriminate Says Judge in Trenton

Judge Robert S. Miller has granted a motion by Sally Frank to declare that the two remaining all-male eating clubs at Princeton University are liable for discriminating against her. The motion was declared as a matter of law, without a full hearing.

Judge Miller denied Ms. Frank's request to declare that Princeton University "aided and abetted" discrimination by the two clubs, the Ivy Club and Tiger Inn.

He ordered a full hearing this summer on that issue.

Judge Miller found the clubs had violated the state law against discrimination by denying membership to Ms. Frank because of her sex. He said his decision was based on previous rulings that the clubs are places of public accommodation and thus subject to the antidiscrimination law.

A third club, Cottage Club, had originally been named by Miss Frank in her suit. However, Cottage began accepting women early this year.

Secretaries and Board In Tentative Agreement

Tentative agreement on a new two-year contract has been reached by the Princeton Regional Board of Education and the Princeton Regional Educational Secretaries Association.

The school secretaries will meet later this week to ratify the cootract. If it's approved, the Board of Education will hold a ratification vote at its July 1 meeting.

School Board member Ann McGoldrick, who heads the negotiating team, said the terms would be announced after both sides approved the contract.

Campaign for Princeton Has Raised $375 Million

With just a week to go in the most successful fund-raising effort in the University's history, A Campaign for Princeton has raised $375 million in gifts and pledges.

The total for the five-year campaign, as of June 1, includes $138.9 million for faculty and academic programs, $67.1 million for academic facilities, $33.8 million for financial aid, $29.9 million for student residential life, and $6.6 million for athletics.

The total also includes $65.1 million in unrestricted funds raised through Annual Giving since the start of the campaign. With a month to go, this year's Annual Giving effort has raised $13.4 million toward its 1985-86 goal of $16.5 million.

The campaign began in July 1981 with a goal of $275 million. In February 1984 the goal was raised to $330 million.

The campaign has strengthened every area of the University, according to Vice President for Development, Van Zandt Williams '65. In addition to 32 new professorships, 12 new preceptorships, two endowed coaching positions and many new scholarships and fellowships, the campaign is responsible for the biggest building boom seen on campus since the 1960s.

Among the campaign-related projects completed, underway or about to begin are:

• Renovation and/or expansion of Frick Chemistry Laboratory, McCosh Hall, Firestone Library, 185 Nassau Street, the Art Museum and Baker Rink.

• Construction of the Lewis Thomas Laboratory, Richardson and Taplin auditoriums, the Lenz Tennis Center and two new athletic fields.

• Creation of five residential colleges, the renovation of three dormitories and construction of three new dormitories.

Donors to the campaign include individuals, who have contributed $250.2 million; foundations, $62.2 million; and corporations, $46.6 million.

Mr. Williams attributed the campaign's success to a highly professional development staff and the dedicated alumni volunteers. He added: "We never could have achieved what we have without the commitment of Bill Bowen, who must be the most tireless and effective fund raiser of any university president in the country."

Mr. Williams emphasized that the University will continue seeking funds after the campaign is over. "Our needs in such areas as faculty support and financial aid are ongoing and essentially open-ended," he said. "In the area of facilities we face a tremendous challenge in raising additional funds for the expansion of Firestone Library and for the construction of a new computer science building, Jewish Life Center and complex for the Economics Department and Center of International Studies."

Widening of Alexander Road Is Scheduled for This Autumn

West Windsor Committee has introduced a $750,000 bond ordinance for the widening of Alexander Road. The road would be expanded into four lanes from Route 1 toward Princeton Junction and to at least three lanes from Route 1 toward Princeton.

The five-month project, scheduled from August through December, would allow at least one lane of traffic in each direction during construction. However, Township Engineer Elmer W. Bergman said that motorists would be wise to seek an alternate route.

Alexander Road will now become the second of the three entrances into Princeton from Route 1 to suffer impairment. With the bridge out on Harrison Street, and construction on Alexander Road, only Washington Road will continue to fully function as an entrance from Route 1.

Into Princeton, Alexander Road will be widened to four lanes to the intersection of Canal Pointe Road under construction. Canal Pointe Road will connect Princeton Overlook, Carnegie Residential Village, Carnegie Park and Princeton Theological Seminary Apartments.

Past Canal Pointe Road, Alexander Road will be narrowed into one lane into Princeton and two lanes from Princeton to the canal.

The state is expected to finance some $100,000 of West Windsor's cost. A public hearing and vote on the bond ordinance is scheduled for the township's July 14 meeting.

2 Are Struck by Pellets; Juvenile, 13, Is Charged

A 13-year-old Borough youth was charged Tuesday with aggravated assault after he admitted to police under questioning that he had fired at two pedestrians the day before.

Police said that the youth admitted taking his father's pellet gun without his father's knowledge and firing at random targets. "There was no motive," said Capt. Thomas Michaud.

The youth was released to the custody of his parents until his case is heard by a Mercer County Juvenile Court.

Two victims were shot on Monday. Around 4:20, a five-year-old Belle Mead boy was struck on the right side of his head behind his ear while walking with his mother on Witherspoon Street near Franklin Avenue. They were heading toward the Princeton Medical Center to visit a patient.

The victim's mother told police that she had heard a whistling sound and then heard her son yell and grab his head. When she saw blood trickling, she picked him up and ran to the hospital's emergency room where a pellet projectile was removed. Police report it had lodged itself in the victim's skin.

Earlier, a few minutes past noon, a 21-year-old West Windsor resident was walking on Witherspoon near Franklin when she was struck by an ob-

She told police she had heard a whizzing sound and then felt a sharp pain. She went to the nearby emergency room where she was treated and released. The projectile had not penetrated her skin, police said.

Both victims reported seeing no one in the area at the time.

After the second incident, Capt. Michaud reported that four to five officers were sent to the area and began knocking on doors, questioning occupants. "They managed to develop leads which eventually they were able to point toward the suspect."

Thief Uses Stepladder To Enter Borough Home

A home on Leigh Avenue was entered last week through an unlocked second-floor window above a porch. Police report an old stepladder was used to climb onto the porch roof.

Taken was a 75-year-old enameled Japanese lockbox containing $475 and momentoes, an envelope containing $100 and a bottle of vodka. Entry was gained between 5:30 and 11:30 in the evening.

Police on Friday received the report of an entry the week before into a John Street apartment.

After gaining entry by breaking a cellar window, the intruder stole a portable color television set worth $350. The owner waited before reporting the June 14 entry because of a busy schedule, police said.

There were entries into other buildings in the Borough but apparently nothing was taken in each instance.

The Cottage Club on Prospect Avenue was entered through a basement door leading to the tap room. Police believe an audible alarm frightened off the intruders but not before they broke off a beer tap head and scratched initials in a bar rail.

A small outbuilding at the rear of Morven, the former governor's mansion, which used to house the governor's security detail, was broken into during the weekend.

Police report that several second floor doors were broken in but nothing was taken. The building is now owned by the state's Department of Environmental Protection.

Princeton High School was entered early Friday morning. A custodian told police that he had seen two persons wandering down a hallway and when he tried to talk to them they ran out of the building toward the Westminster Choir College campus across the street.

Police went to the school after receiving a call from an alarm company at 2:28. They met with a custodian, who said that he had heard the sound of glass breaking, and began to check the building. They discovered a window in a doorway on the west side of the gym broken with a fence post. Later, they found a fire extinguisher had been used to break out a door window in the east end of the school near the gym.

Capt. Thomas Michaud commented that police believe the intruders entered the school on the west side and exited on the Burglary at YMCA. A burglar who entered the YMCA Monday night managed to escape after he was pursued from the building by an employee.

The employee saw the suspect around 9:30 by a door inside the gym. He was carrying an object. Both suspect and employee saw each other at the same time, police said. The suspect then dropped something from the object he was carrying and ran out the door of the building, through the parking lot toward Bayard Lane with the employee giving chase.

A subsequent investigation revealed that the suspect, described as a black male with a muscular build and very short hair, wearing a brown and white striped shirt, had removed a fire extinguisher from a wall in the gym and walked to an office.

After breaking a window in the office door, the thief, once inside, stole an AM-FM stereo cassette valued at $150.

Trenton Man Is Charged With Forgery and Theft

Back in mid-April, a check made out to the Unitarian Church in the amount of $450 was stolen from a secretary's office in the church.

Early last week, Borough police charged Wilfredo Rosa, 22, of Trenton, with the theft of that check and with forgery. His arrest came as the result of a subsequent investigation by Det. Randy Sutton.

According to Capt. Thomas Michaud, Rosa had traced over the entire check with a flair pen and replaced his own name with that of the Unitarian Church as the payee. He cashed it April 17 at United Jersey Bank branch office at 370 Nassau Street.

Rosa was later released, pending his appearance in court.

Purse Theft Yields $270 In Grad College Lounge

A West Windsor resident, visiting Sunday in a lounge area located in the basement of the University Graduate College, became a theft victim when someone removed $270 from her purse which she had left unattended for a few minutes.

A 41-year-old North Brunswick resident joined the list the previous day. While he was swimming at the YMCA pool, his $30 wallet containing $300 and credit cards was stolen. The victim told police that he had locked his locker and had taken the key with him to the pool.

While using the facilities in Dillon Gym on the university campus last week, a Cranbury resident left his wallet in an unlocked locker. When he returned, his $20 wallet containing $5 was missing.

A Princeton University employee placed her purse in a desk drawer in her office in the Engineering Quadrangle building at 8:30 in the morning. At noon, she discovered her wallet had been stolen. The victim lost $11 and credit cards.

During a five-day period, someone entered an office in the YWCA building without force and stole $250 in money and checks in an envelope lying on a desk in an office. Police report the money was proceeds from a fund-raising event for the Delaware-Raritan Lung Association. There are no suspects.

The pastry thief struck again at the WaWa Store on Nassau Street. Taken this time were a collection of doughnuts, bagels and corn muffins, worth a combined $40.70, that had been left between 3 and 5 in the morning by bakery deliverymen.

A Princeton High student last week reported the theft of his knapsack from a front desk in the school's publications office. Taken between 1:10 and 2:15, the knapsack contained his wallet with $13 inside, a Walkman stereo-cassette and some keys. Total loss: $103.

$200 was taken from in front of 22 Witherspoon Street. The victim, a 13-year-old resident of Princeton Community Village, had left it there, police said, while inside a store.

A man's three-speed bicycle was taken Monday between 5 and 5:30 p.m. from the third entry of Spelman Hall on the university campus where it had been left by its owner. Its value was not reported to police.

Township police report that a 1978 Ford van was broken into while it was parked overnight in the Holly House lot in Princeton Community Village.

A driver's vent window was smashed (causing $75 damage) to allow the thief to reach in and unlock the door. An estimated $3 was taken from a money holder inside the van.

Stolen Car Is Stopped; Trenton Pair Charged

Two Trenton juveniles, 15 and 16, were stopped for erratic driving last week and subsequently charged with receiving stolen property, possession of burglary tools and giving false information to police officers.

Their car, a 1983 Cadillac, was stopped at 3:17 Sunday morning by Ptl. David Dudeck and Ptl. Anthony Federico on Nassau near Harrison Street after the officers had observed it weaving over the center line.

When the officers approached the car they observed that the steering wheel column had been pried apart at the ignition switch and they also detected pry marks on top of the driver's side door.

The suspects had in their possession a steel brake tool used as a pry bar and a screwdriver. They also allegedly attempted to deceive the officers with false names.

An investigation revealed the car, valued at $15,000, had been stolen earlier from South Warren Street in Trenton. The owner was unaware of the theft until he was notified by police.

The juveniles were later released at 9:30 in the morning in the custody of a guardian of one of the youths. Both face a hearing in Trenton juvenile court.

Juveniles and Shoplifting. Two juvenile boys, a 16-year-old from Skillman and a 13-year-old from Princeton, have been charged with shoplifting. They were observed at 1:52 Saturday morning inside the Wawa Store on lower University Place by on duty Ptl. Ronald Wohlschlegel. The officer, who had entered the store, arrested them after observing each youth place some candy in his pockets.

Each youth was charged with shoplifting $1.35 worth of candy and later released.

Car Is Struck Broadside At Ewing, Valley Road

A car driven by Kenneth J. Arnott, 70, 11 Henderson Avenue, was struck broadside last week by an out-of-control car that skidded through the intersection of Valley Road.

The second driver, James A. Altucher, 18, of North Brunswick, told Ptl. John Seelcy that, as he approached the Valley Road stop sign, his car went out of control. After impact, his car fishtailed back and forth across the Ewing Street intersection and damaged a portion of a fence at 247 Valley Road.

He was issued a summons for careless driving.

Mr. Arnott was treated at Princeton Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the leg and hip; Mr. Altucher refused treatment for a minor head injury. Both Mr. Al-

Assaults Police Officer; Redding Circle Man Held

A Redding Circle resident has been charged with assault, after he injured a Township officer who was trying to arrest him last week.

Also charged with resisting arrest is 23-year-old Percy Randall Jr. of 32 Redding Circle. At a hearing in Township court, Randall's case was referred to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office. He was sent without bail to the Mercer County Correction Center to await a bail hearing.

Randall, who has a number of outstanding warrants from the Township and Borough police departments for failing to appear in court to pay fines, was seen last week by Sgt. Anthony Gaylord on Mount Lucas Road near Ewing Street. The officer knows the suspect personally and was aware that there were warrants out for his arrest, Capt. Jack Petrone reported.

When Randall was confronted by Sgt. Gaylord, he turned and started to run. The officer caught up to him and advised him that he was under arrest. As Sgt. Gaylord attempted to take him into custody, Randall began to push and shove the officer.

Sgt. Gaylord fell to the ground, injuring his knee, ribs and side. After two passersby attempted to assist Sgt. Gaylord to no avail, he requested a police backup. Capt. Petrone, Sgt. Mario Musso and Ptl. David Cromwell responded and managed to subdue Randall, who was handcuffed and taken to headquarters.

Capt. Petrone reported that Sgt. Gaylord was forced to miss three weeks of work because of his badly-bruised knee which required a cast.

At his Township hearing, Randall was also sentenced to 147 days in the Mercer County Correction Center for failure to pay fines on assorted charges.

Marijuana Charge Made Against 2 Princeton Men

Two Princeton residents, Zeno D. Wood, 19, 259 Mount Lucas Road, and Theodore H. Bradford, 18, 50 Pine Street, have been charged by Township police with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. Both were later released with a July 15 court date.

They were observed last week around 11 p.m. near the entrance of the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. They were checked out, Capt. Jack Petrone explained, because of a problem with thefts at the church.

As Ptl. Robert Buchanan, Ptl. John Buzko and Officer Michael Henderson approached, they allegedly detected a strong odor of marijuana. A black pipe believed to contain marijuana residue was found in Wood's possession and Bradford, police report, attempted to conceal a small packet in his jacket containing a green, leafy substance believed to be marijuana.

Large Party, Large Fire; Open Burning Charged

A Township resident, Jim Colavita, 910 Cherry Valley Road, has been issued a summons for open burning without obtaining a permit.

Two police patrol cars went to Cherry Valley Road at 11:10 Saturday night to investigate a report of a large bonfire in a

Color Your Landscape
By
Redbud Landscaping

It seems too often that many of us see our landscapes burst into spring's glorious colors and quickly fade into summer's drab browns and greens. With proper landscape design, the colors of spring can be spread into the months of summer and on into fall and winter.

Redbud Landscaping has found that by using such colors as the crimson red of barberry, the grey-blue of spruce and sunshine yellow of the day lily, the colors of spring can go on and on. Colors of the landscape are not always derived from the flower of the plant. The mottled bark of Chinese dogwood is very colorful as well as interesting during the months of winter, along with the white-peeling bark of the paper birch.

A well planned landscape design enables the homeowner to enjoy a year-round change in colors and texture. Redbud Landscaping can help make the colors of spring continue through the year.

back yard. They found a large party in progress and a bonfire that measured 12 feet by 20 feet. Princeton Volunteer Firemen, assisted by Hopewell Firemen, who were also called, arrived and extinguished the fire.

14 Students Are Named AFS Americans Abroad

Fourteen students from three Princeton schools are participating in the AFS Americans Abroad program this year.

Jamison Suter of Princeton Day School is completing a successful year in France and will return to Princeton July 2. Olivia Wolf of Stuart Country Day School has been in Argentina since February and will return next January. Jim Cleaves, Princeton High School, is presently in Honduras.

Three other students will spend the coming school year abroad. Tania Tersigni of Stuart will be in The Netherlands, Joshua Tewles and Karry Jo Espenshade of Princeton High will go to Sweden and Mexico, respectively.

Two students from PDS will spend the summer abroad. They are Ron Cunningham, who will go to Iceland, and Michael Lingle who is going to Honduras.

Six students from PHS are also spending the summer abroad. Karen Anne Kaplan is also going to Iceland, Robin Goldstein will go to Spain and Amy Kaufman to Panama. The other three are going on a new work-study program to English-speaking countries, a program which involves some time living with a family and some time working on a local project.

Frances Raymond is going to Ireland on this program, and Christian Lien and Adele Riddle are going somewhere in Great Britain not yet specified.

Foreign Students Here. Two foreign students will come to Princeton next year under the AFS International/Intercultural Programs and will stay with Princeton families. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hall and their family will be host family to Claudia Angelica (Kika) Gleiser, from Chile, who will attend PDS.

Murielle Jastrow from Switzerland will be living with Michael Kingston and the Rev. Louise Kingston and will be a student at Princeton High School.

Four Drivers Are Fined In Borough Traffic Court

Four Princeton-area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

David Jacobs of Route 518, Skillman, was fined $215 for having an open container of alcohol in his car.

Nancy M. Morris, 52 Main Street, Kingston, paid $60 for speeding, and Gary Cocciolillo, 5 Grove Street, Rocky Hill, paid the same amount for a red light violation. Unregistered vehicle cost Mark P. Descoteaux, 47 Gedney Lane, Lawrenceville, $20.

Pizza Spinning Contest Highlight of Festival

The Princeton Shopping Center will hold its annual Italian Festival Saturday. Special events are planned throughout the day, and shopping center merchants will feature tables outdoors with sale items.

At 11 a.m., Creative Theater Unlimited performs Woots, humorously presented explanations of the origins of Italian words, for children of all ages.

Excerpts from the Rossini Cinderella will be sung at noon in a preview performance by the June Opera Festival. The singers will perform a new English translation of the Italian opera based on the classic story.

Honeybee, the new contemporary women's clothing store, will present a fashion show at 1 in the courtyard. Models will be instructors from the Princeton Nautilus ExerDance program.

A highlight of the day's festivities is the Pizza-Spinning Contest, sponsored by Pizza Star at the Princeton Shopping Center. Participants from throughout the area will compete for trophies as the best pizza spinners. The panel of judges includes TV personality Joe Franklin, as well as area luminaries.

Between noon and 2, Pizza Star is giving away a free medium pizza to any customer.

Princeton Bakery will offer special Italian pastries, breads and cakes, such as rum cake cannoli, sfogliatelle, and baba rum. Bon Appetit, the gourmet food store, will feature many Italian treats for the festival.

Music throughout the day will be provided by the Skillman Struttin' Society, a New Orleans style Dixieland band. They will play standard tunes like When the Saints Go Marchin' In, Bosin Street Blues, Hello Dolly, and several Italian favorites. The band is composed of five college students who have been playing together professionally for five years.

IT'S NEW To Us

Total Look in Fashion From Just Men Clothiers

"I enjoy putting the total man together," says Al Verger, partner and manager of Just Men Clothiers in The Marketplace located at Routes 27 and 518. "We'll coordinate the entire outfit, including shirt, tie, jacket, pants, socks and belt. We like to help out in this way, and we're glad when the customer is satisfied and happy."

Many times, adds Mr. Verger, the customer will seek advice. Not if he's with his wife, however! "If a man comes in alone, he'll frequently ask for suggestions, but if he brings his wife along, then she'll help him out."

One of the original stores in The Marketplace, Just Men opened 14½ years ago, and Mr. Verger has been with the shop since its beginning. The locations at The Marketplace continues to be excellent, he reports. "This is a very good location. The area is growing. There are lots of new offices, and we get a lot of repeat business, too, with people coming back many times."

"OUR PRICES ARE ALWAYS SALE PRICES," says Al Verger, partner and manager of Just Men Clothiers in The Marketplace at Route 27 and 518. The men's clothing store emphasizes famous brand manufacturers with savings up to 60%

Having been in the business for so many years, Mr. Verger has seen a number of changes in men's wear. Although not subject to the vagaries evident in women's fashions, men's clothes nevertheless are modified from time to time. From the tattered look of the rebellious '60s and '70s to the more traditional styles of today, indeed, from Yippies to Yuppies, different modes of dressing have been favored at different moments in history. "The trend today is more toward the traditional," observes Mr. Verger. "People are dressing up again. Suits, sportcoats and dress pants and dress shirts are coming back strong."

Colors Popular. Also, colors have been popular this season, he adds. "Bright colors for shirts and shorts and bright prints are prevalent this year. There is definitely a brighter look, and men are taking to it. Also popular are blends, such as cotton and poly, etc."

Just Men carries a wide selection of clothes, from informal to dress, including suits, sportcoats, slacks, shirts (dress and informal), windbreakers, raincoats, Bermuda and tennis shorts, belts, socks and underwear. Men of all sizes, from short to tall, can be fitted, and alterations are available at a minimum charge.

"We buy in bulk," explains Mr. Verger, "and this enables us to keep prices down. We have high quality brand names at low prices. Everything is discounted."

Indeed, customers will find 20% to 60% marked off all merchandise. Suits range from $99 to $199, sportscoats $59 to $109, pants $12.95 to $17.95, dress shirts $12.95 to $15.95, casual shirts $12.95 to $17.95, shorts $12 to $15.98, raincoats $79.90 to $99.90 and ties $7.99 to $9.99.

Shoppers will also appreciate the gift certificates which are offered, and certainly the convenient parking at The Marketplace.

Hours for Just Men are Monday-Saturday, 10-6, Thursday and Friday until 9, and Sunday, 12-5.

Bedding with a Flair Found at Mattress Fair

If the time has come to replace that sagging mattress with one that is firmer, or if you've decided to opt for something a bit more avant-garde like, say, a water bed, then Mattress Fair in the Pennington Shopping Center on Route 31 may have just the right choice for you.

"We're off to a nice start," says owner Bruce Bitler of his new store. "We're keeping our name out there — we've just been open two months. We border on a lot of good areas, though — Pennington, Hopewell, Princeton and Lawrenceville — that appreciate quality, and we have that. We carry premium bedding."

MORE THAN 60 SETS OF BEDDING are on display at Mattress Fair in the Pennington Shopping Center. A full line of mattresses (including water beds), as well as day beds, brass beds and pillows, are available at the new store.

Customers from all of these areas have been arriving regularly at Mattress Fair, Mr. Bitler is pleased to report. "I think they appreciate our wide selection," he notes. "We are the area's largest retail showroom and carry such fine mattresses as Sealy, Serta, Sterns & Foster, Bemco, Eclipse, Somma and Chiro Guard by Lemoyne. And what is very important, we stock everything we sell. We can get everything that's in the store. There are no long waits for delivery."

Personal service is another important aspect of the business to Mr. Bitler, and he believes in spending time with customers to assist them in selecting the right mattress. "I like to help people out and help them choose bedding that will last," he explains. "People don't purchase it that often, so they really need someone to direct them to the right type of bedding for them."

Up to 60% Off. Also the price is right! "We're a discounter, with up to 60% off retail prices, but we also feature specials on certain models each week over and above our discounts."

Mr. Bitler's enthusiasm for his work stems both from his pleasure in having his own store and from the experience he has had in the field. His father opened the first Mattress Fair 15 years ago in Lexington Lyme, Pennsylvania, and now there are five Rhett's Mattress Fairs, all located in Pennsylvania. "I worked in the business about five years," recalls Mr. Bitler, "four years in the retail end and a year for Ohio-Sealy Mattress Company, as a road representative. I thought to myself, 'I've had the experience' and having my own store was something I always wanted. I decided to try for it. I just kept looking around for something to open up with a good location."

Prices are discounted, and Mr. Bitler guarantees they are the lowest in the area. Sets of twin mattresses and box springs range from $90 to $200 to $600, doubles from $160 to $300 to $700, queens from $200 to $380 to $850, and kings up to $1100. Waterbeds go from $649 for a queen size up to $849 for a king. Daybeds are $399 and up, and pillows run from $9.95 up to $99.95 for 100% white goosedown imported from China.

Services include free delivery and set-up, and customers will also appreciate the ease of parking at the Pennington Shopping Center.

Hours for Mattress Fair are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 10-8, Thursday, Friday 10-9, and Saturday, 9-5.

—Jean Stratton

He has found mattresses to be a good, steady, year-round business, and as with everything, certain trends develop and particular items gain in popularity. "Today, the trend is for firm bedding," he comments, "but with plush padding on top, you can get surface layer comfort (a softer feel) with a very firm, structurally supported foundation.

"Queen bedding is also the trend for couples," he adds. "It's very popular now, and queen gives you 20% more sleeping space. Of course we have all the other sizes — twin, double, and king. We also carry daybeds, Fraser solid brass beds from Italy, and water beds."

Benefits of Waterbeds. He assures customers that they will not become seasick on a waterbed. On the contrary, "it can be very comfortable and relieve the pressure points on the body and offer adjustable firmness and excellent support. It adjusts to your moves.

"The Somma waterbeds are very popular," he continues. "They offer ease of filling also. You just fill them once. Anyone can fill and assemble them."

Mattress Fair also carries a full range of pillows, including feather, down and poly-filled (latex and foam rubber).

Colmar

versity, the Borough, the Township, state government, business, the Chamber of Commerce, and Rotary. Not to mention folks from the Office of the Consul General of France, United Nations, and the French Government Tourist Office.

The Colmar delegation is in the United States to participate in ceremonies over the July 4 weekend. The mayor and several others are scheduled to be on Liberty Island with President Reagan during the ceremonies.

Wines and High Tech. Colmar, a city of 64,000 known both for its technology and wines, was described by Princeton University Professor Francois Rigolot as being quaint, picturesque, and filled with art. He pointed out there were strong ties between the University and France, and mentioned that the Princeton-in-France program sends about 50 students to work each summer in France.

Princeton Prof. Andre Maman has a singular role in French-American relations. He is the delegate to the French Senate of some 200,000 French in America. Each month, we were told, he travels to France to represent the interests of this group.

Mrs. Jean Lareuse said there are many in Princeton who are interested in France. She recalled that she had to find beds for 100 French-speaking people during the Bicentennial, and that she found them among either those who spoke French or with people who wanted to encourage French-American relations. "A lot of townspeople are here today," she said with pleasure.

Sister Cities. Colmar's director of economic affairs, Christie Masson, said he was in Princeton because Colmar would like to be its sister city. The two cities are alike, said M. Masson, in that both have old cultures and a dynamic economy. (At the end of the luncheon, Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund obliged by proclaiming Princeton Borough the "twin and sister city of Colmar, Alsace, France.".)

After having refrained from asking M. Masson whether he thought he was getting the whole Princeton — which might have led to an explanation of the hole in the doughnut to a man doubtlessly raised on croissants — Township Committeeman William Cherry came into view.

"Does Princeton Township have a twin city," we inquired.

"She had a sister city in a suburb of Moscow," he said. "but nothing came of it. We sent Jim Firestone over two years ago, and he reported he saw building after building of apartments."

"And that was it," he concluded, a tinge of sadness in his voice.

Does Colmar take pride in being the birthplace of Bartholdi? You bet it does. M. Masson explained the city has a Bartholdi Museum, a high school named Bartholdi, a Lion's Club (to which he belongs) named for Bartholdi, and a Bank Bartholdi. "Everything is Bartholdi," said the city official.

While there was agreement that Colmar, like its twin, was home to a university, three persons at the luncheon gave three different answers when asked its name.

"I'm not sure, but it's the equivalent of M.I.T.," said one. "The University of Colmar, a branch of the University of Strasbourg," said another. While the third, with conviction, said that it was part of the University of the Upper Rhine.

Planning Board

love this gas station, not for its architecture, but for the owner. We will miss him, and regret its leaving. It has been a neighborhood facility."

Mr. Reed went on to describe the new building proposed by E.R. Keller Company, if it were to tear down the gas station entirely, as being similar to "the untenanted Gershen building and not in keeping with the character of Princeton."

He applauded the attempt to make the site a transition to the residences and said neighbors would welcome the way the Victorian house would screen them from the business activity across Nassau Street.

The Planning Board agreed that it preferred the developer's ideas for preserving both the stone gas station and the Victorian house over his scheme for razing the site and starting anew, and said it hoped that "creative surveying" would turn up a few more feet on which the house could be set back from the sidewalk.

It then turned its attention to reviewing for the second time in concept the development scheme proposed by CPR Associates for the former Princeton University land in the northwest Township. This is a proposal by Houston architect Cheung Chu and partner John Petersen for 50 large lots on either side of Drakes Corner Road at Province Line Road.

Thoughtful Discussion. It was clear from the discussion that this proposal has been the subject of much thoughtful discussion between CPR representatives, the Township engineering staff and Duggan Kimball, the professional planner for both municipalities, since it was first presented late last year. "We went back and forth on the question of access to Cherry Valley Road," Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser noted.

The plan presented last week showed only emergency access to Cherry Valley Road from the long northern cul-de-sac from Province Line Road. Additional short cul-de-sacs have been designed off Drakes Corner Road.

All parties are agreed that Drakes Corner Road would be widened from the present 16-foot width to 18 feet, and would be paved for its full length, but the paving would be stone chip rather than smooth macadam. Province Line Road would be improved part way, and the intersection with Cherry Valley Road aligned so that a traffic light could be installed at some later date. A new cul-de-sac to reach lots in the southwest corner of the property has been designed to eliminate the need for improving Province Line in that area.

The developer will pay for the improvements to Drakes Corner Road and to Province Line Road to the property line. CPR Associates will also contribute $100,000 to the Cherry Valley Road intersection improvements, provided the Township acquire the necessary right-of-way for realigning the road. CPR Associates also intends to contribute some 12 acres adjoining Woodfield Reservation to the Township for open space and will be leaving 85 percent of the tract undisturbed.

William Roth of Province Line congratulated the applicant for their sensitivity and the "ingenious" way it handled a difficult development problem. David Baker of Drakes Corner Road said he felt the biggest problem was going to be traffic, particularly at the intersection of Drakes Corner and the Great Road. Charles Agle, who owns land on Province Line, spoke of his "horror" of the Cherry Valley-Province Line Road intersection and asked the board to discuss its plans with Hopewell and Montgomery.

Planning Board members were enthusiastic. Richard Henkel praised the developer for having been very sensitive to the site and called the proposal "a very good job." Chairman Hans K. Sander said it represented "a lot of thinking and interfacing, which validates the whole process."

---

Mr. Sayen also commended the developer, and said he "shuddered to think what the University could have built there 'as-of-right.' "

Efforts of Bystanders, Sewer Crew, Retrieve Keys Lost In Storm Drain

People don't always look the other way when someone is in trouble. A young woman from out of town parked her car last Thursday in front of the library, put money in the meter and set off to do some shopping. Much to her dismay, she dropped her car keys which disappeared through a grating into a storm drain.

Several passersby paused to offer help and suggestions. Someone produced wire coat hangers to fashion a recovery tool. A man working nearby provided a long rod with a magnet on the end. However, efforts to retrieve the keys were frustrated by several inches of murky water and sludge in the bottom of the drain.

The appearance of two men from the Sewer Operating Committee raised hopes, but the grating over the drain was too heavy to lift by hand. The sewer vacuum truck arrived and lifted the grill with a small crane, then vacuumed up the water and some of the sludge.

A crewman then reached into the drain, groped through the remaining sludge, and came up triumphantly with the keys. With a flourish, he wiped them clean with a towel and presented them to their owner, as bystanders broke into applause.

Guidebook Available To N.J. Nature Spots

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is offering the guidebook, Marsh, Meadow, Mountain, edited by John Harding and illustrated by Carol Decker, at a 15% discount.

This 288-page paperback guidebook introduces readers to more than 135 natural areas in the Delaware Valley basin and the New Jersey coastal plain. Marsh, Meadow, Mountain provides detailed descriptions of each of these natural areas as well as addresses, directions and trail maps. Among the many areas described are the Poconos, the Pine Barrens, the Delaware Water Gap, Tyler Aboretum and the Stone Harbor Heron Rookery.

For a copy, at the discount price of $11 (publishers price is $12.95), stop by the education office at the Watershed Association's headquarters on Titus Mill Road or call 737-3735 to make other arrangements.

Roland Dreier

Roland Dreier, of Princeton, a student at Princeton Day School, has been chosen to attend the Summer Science Institute, a six-week program for gifted high school youth to be held at the Xerox International Training Center in Leesburg, Va.

Fifty-five top students in math and science from across the nation, together with students from China, India, Israel, Singapore and Thailand, will attend the Institute, which combines theoretical classroom study with individual scientific work.

Catherine Gentile, of Princeton Junction, has been named senior director of the Hightstown Computer Services Group at McGraw-Hill. She is responsible for providing a wide range of computer hardware and software services from the Hightstown data center to McGraw-Hill offices around the world.

---

Joseph Ravenell, a sixth-grade student at The American Boychoir School, was a featured treble soloist in the American Ballet Theater's Requiem, which was performed in Chicago, Los Angeles, New York and Washington's Kennedy Center. The young choir boy also appeared on the Today Show.

Joseph is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Ravenell of Lawrence Township. His father is the supervisor of Chaplain Services at Trenton State Prison. Young Joseph began his singing career in the children's choir of his father's church, Samaritan Baptist Church in Trenton.

Warren W. Kaeding, 6 Roseberry Court, Lawrenceville, senior scientist and leader of Mobil Chemical Company's exploratory petrochemicals research and development program in Princeton, has retired.

Dr. Kaeding was selected as Mobil Chemical's first senior scientist in 1979, the highest technical rank in the company, after the success of his chemically modified zeolite catalysis research and his pioneering work on methanol that led to Mobil's proprietary methanol-to-gasoline process.

Dr. Kaeding is the inventor or co-inventor on 69 U.S. patents. His research resulted in the development of processes for making a major new plastic, similar to the widely used polystyrene, as well as one for making p-xylene, the principal raw material for polyester fibers and soft-drink bottles.

The kind of retirement community you always hoped you'd find is being planned right now.

Mail the coupon for information.

If you're one of the people who will mail the coupon to learn more about Monroe Village in Monroe Township, you are approaching or have already reached age 65.

The idea of a charming apartment in a suburban community, where your neighbors are about your own age and share similar interests, appeals to you.

But you insist on security. You want first-rate medical care available on virtually a moment's notice. You want your independence. And you want the comforts and conveniences you've worked all your life to earn.

That's what Monroe Village is all about. It is being planned for construction on 55 acres on the Jamesburg-Half Acre Road. And since there are quite a few people like you, we expect Monroe Village to fill up fast when construction is completed in late 1987.

Carpeting, patios, protection.

Monroe Village will offer you a choice of two-bedroom, one-bedroom or studio apartments. All the apartments will have patios or balconies, wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies, and individual climate control.

Your apartment will have its own kitchen. But cooking needn't be a daily chore because there will also be a comfortable community dining room for dinner, or for three meals a day.

Other amenities will include elevators in all apartment buildings. Enclosed walkways between buildings. Surveillance of grounds and buildings for security. And the convenience of housekeeping and maintenance service.

Monroe Village will have a library, a community center with craft and hobby rooms, and even bus transportation to shopping areas.

Health facilities with healthy precautions.

Should you ever need them, the services of a physician and nursing staff will be available 24 hours a day. There will also be a 60-bed nursing center.

There will even be a "panic pull" in every apartment. So you can easily summon medical help in an emergency.

Experienced care with a philosophy of caring.

Monroe Village is an affiliate of Presbyterian Homes of New Jersey, the largest non-profit health care provider for elderly people in the state.

We have been offering our special kind of care since 1927. Today, over 1,700 people live in the eight different non-sectarian facilities operated by Presbyterian Homes.

All believe in the philosophy of "The Continuum of Care." It's based on a genuine concern for the total needs of our residents—needs for a feeling of independence and spiritual well-being, as well as a full range of physical and emotional services.

Deciding to live in Monroe Village is an important decision, not to be made lightly. That's why you should send for more information and study it carefully. We suggest you do so now, by using the coupon or calling.

Dave Kass Has Sold Wash-O-Mat after 35 Years on the Job

BUSINESS

Dave Kass, who recently sold his Wash-O-Mat Laundry and Dry Cleaners after 35 years of business, recalls that he established his reputation by doing shirts without starch. Now, he says, there are increasing requests for a lot of starch.

"I don't know if that means anything," says the 62-year-old Trenton resident, "but maybe people are working harder now and getting more mileage out of their shirts."

In 1951, the native New Yorker, married to a Trenton woman and living there, became fed up with commuting to his job as a clothing salesman for Howard Clothes in Manhattan. He decided to buy the small laundry at 258 Nassau Street (now Nassau Street Seafood) that was then owned by two Princeton University students.

Dave Kass

There were some small washing machines and a few home-style dryers. And people had to make an appointment to use the equipment.

After the first two weeks of operation, Mr. Kass paid his assistants $25 a week, "and I found I had $20 left for me."

No absentee owner, Mr. Kass was at the store all the time. And he started to make some changes. First, he began to do laundry for customers who brought it in. ("I was the first to do this in Princeton," he says.) Then he added dry cleaning, followed by shirt pressing.

He spent ten years at this location, branching out into the store next door, before he decided to move into larger quarters. In 1961, Wash-O-Mat of Princeton moved into the rear of what is now WaWa.

By the Pound. Mr. Kass began to offer dry cleaning by the pound for his customers, who were mostly residents of the town and graduate students. "This was a tremendous savings," he says. "Some came from far away for it. I remember once that someone came into town for graduation from Buffalo, and he brought 50 pounds of dry cleaning with him."

Having a business in Princeton is different from running one elsewhere. For example, Mr. Kass said he was always amazed, after knowing a customer for years, to read about him and find out he was world famous for something.

It was also possible to keep the coin-operated machines going 24 hours a day, without attendance after 6 — something he was unable to do at other laundromats he owned in the surrounding area. "It's a tribute to Princeton people that we didn't have too much vandalism," he says.

His customers recall Dave Kass as being on the move all the time — "Mr. Perpetual Motion" one called him — and as giving impeccable service. One long-time customer said that the Wash-O-Mat owner took great pains to re-clean a dress whose buttons had melted — even though he was not responsible for the problem.

Mr. Kass, who is completely recovered from hip surgery in December, said his customers were wonderful, pleasant, and understanding, "a typical Princeton-type customer." In his 35 years, there was only one he asked not to return.

He recalled that he was on such good terms with his customers, and knew most of them by name, that he would get the order ready as soon as he saw the car pull up.

Daughter in Princeton. Mr. Kass and his wife, Elaine, have three children. Their daughter, Harriet, lives in Princeton and is married to attorney Alan Medvin. They also have a daughter living in Wayne and a son in Vail, Colo.

To the Kass's, tennis is a way of life. They were active in getting the Mercer County Indoor Tennis Center built, and Mr. Kass is on the County Tennis Advisory Committee.

They built their home in the Hiltonia section of Trenton 28 years ago, and they're happy there. "But," says Mr. Kass, "if I had built my house in Princeton instead of Trenton, I wouldn't have to work now."

He said he could have built a house in Princeton for the same cost, but that the relief from not commuting to New York made the trip to Princeton seem a holiday.

He is now working four afternoons a week at H. Gross and Company. He loves it there ("I always had the feel of clothing, even in the dry cleaning business") and gets a special kick out of the double take people do when they see him at Palmer Square instead of behind WaWa.

Liposome Company Files For Public Stock Offering

The Liposome Company, Inc., has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering an initial public offering of 2,500,000 shares of its Common Stock.

The underwriters have an option to purchase up to an additional 375,000 shares to cover over-allotments, if any. All of the shares to be offered are being sold by the company at an offering price expected to be between $8 and $10 per share.

Located in the Princeton Forrestal Center on Route One, the Liposome Company is engaged in the development of lipid and liposome technology for the purpose of enhaneing pharmaceuticals. The company's products are in various stages of development, ranging from preliminary laboratory research to pre-clinical testing in animals. The company has demonstrated in animal studies benefits of liposome and lipid-delivered drugs over the corresponding free drug, such as increased safety, effectiveness or convenience.

The company is developing products independently and under research and development agreements with several large pharmaceutical companies including American Gyanamid, Bristol-Myers, Ciba-Geigy, Ortho Pharmaceuticals and E.R. Squibb & Sons.

The offering is expected to be made as soon as practical after the registration statement is declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission and will be underwritten by a group of underwriters managed by Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated and Robertson, Colman & Stephens. Copies of the preliminary prospectus relating to the offering may be obtained from Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, 55 Water Street, New York, NY 10041.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

ROOTS DO KILL

with Sam DeTuro

Woodwinds Associates

A tree fails to leaf out on the first two or three feet of branches around the perimeter. One half of a tree from top to bottom has the foliage wilting. Is it a strange disease or should an accusing finger be pointed towards the ground?

Girdling roots frequently cut into the base of a tree and choke it, much like a noose around a person's neck. The damage in many cases is irreversible because the visible symptoms of it above ground do not show up right away. By the time large sections of the tree begin dying, removal of the strangling root is impractical.

The best indication of girdling roots is examination of the trunk at the soil line. If this area does not flare out but goes straight into the ground, be suspicious of roots underground growing across and against the trunk.

If the crown of the tree is not too far gone, cut the troublesome roots or root with a sharp chisel. Although removal of some roots reduces the amount of water and nutrients previously supplied to the tree, the loss is small compared to the restored capacity of the entire circumference of the trunk to function in the uptake of liquids to foliage. FEEDING the tree heavily to restore vigor and to promote healing is most important. Call WOODWINDS (924-3500) with any of your tree care questions

PARENT SURVIVAL TIPS

HELP WANTED

Male/female to work double to triple shifts. No weekends or holidays off. Long-term commitment (18 years min.). Must have unlimited physical, emotional stamina.

The Governor's Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect has assembled some common-sense tips on how to make the most of life as a parent. (For a copy, call 1-800-THE KIDS)

Beginning at the beginning—with babyhood—here are a few of the Task Force's recommendations.

BIRTH TO ONE YEAR

Learn the basics, such as how to bathe a baby. Ask an expert, talk to family and friends.

Love your baby. Talk, touch, hold, hug, kiss, smile, and enjoy.

Discover what's what. Pay close attention to all the sounds, facial expressions and body movements of your baby. Each one means something different.

Never use physical force.

TODDLERHOOD

Take a deep breath. The assault on your house will pass. Right now everything's new, and waiting to be explored.

Childproof your house. Pack up your treasures and lock up any dangerous or poisonous items.

Keep rules simple and few. Table manners and toilet training can wait.

SCHOOL AGE

Show your interest. Check homework, talk about what's happening in school, ask children's friends over, and keep in touch with teachers.

Communicate. Talk to your kids, and listen.

Assign kid-sized chores. Nothing makes a child lose interest faster than having to do something too difficult, or too easy.

ADOLESCENCE

Refuse to get confused. Expect your teen to act both like a child and an adult, often on the same day. Comfort, reassure and, when it's appropriate, look the other way.

Don't stop talking when your teen says, "I know that." As a parent, you're the only one who can share the values that go with sexuality.

Let your affection show — but not when their friends are around. Make them know you care.

AND WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS, AND YOU'RE READY TO EXPLODE,

Stop in your tracks. Step back. Sit down.

Take five deep breaths. Inhale and exhale slowly.

Count to 10 or 20. Or say the alphabet aloud.

If you're still mad, punch a pillow or munch an apple.

Thumb through a magazine, newspaper, or photo album.

Do some sit-ups.

Pick up a pencil and write down your thoughts.

Take a hot bath or a cold shower.

Lie down on the floor or put your feet up.

Put on your favorite record.

Water your plants.

OBITUARIES

Frank Petito

Frank Petito, 71, formerly of Lambert Drive, died June 17 at New York Hospital, New York City, after a brief illness. He was former chairman of Morgan Stanley & Co., and an advisory director of the international investment banking firm.

Born in Trenton, Mr. Petito graduated from Princeton University in 1936 summa cum laude, having been elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year. He received a fellowship to the Babson Institute of Business Administration and graduated from there in 1937. During World War II, he served as a military intelligence officer on General Eisenhower's headquarters staff in Europe, holding the rank of lieutenant colonel at the end of the war.

Mr. Petito spent the major part of his business career at Morgan Stanley, joining the firm in 1937 and becoming a partner in 1954. He became the firm's first chairman in 1973, retiring in 1979. He rejoined Morgan Stanley as an advisory director in 1985.

He was a member of the board of trustees of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute and was an important contributor during the period of its financial reorganization. He was also a member of the board of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, and a member of the University Club, the Princeton Club of New York and the River Club.

He was a resident of Tequesta, Fla., Manhattan and Stone Harbor, N.J.

Survivors include his wife, Laura H.; three sons, Frank A. Jr. of New York, David W. of Tequesta, Fla., and John H. Petito of Princeton, and six grandchildren. He is also survived by his mother, Theresa Petito of Lawrenceville; three brothers, Robert A. and Patrick of Lawrenceville, and Louis of Tampa., Fla.; and two sisters, Josephine of Lawrenceville and Margaret Domanski of Hamilton Township.

The service was private. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that contributions be sent to establish a memorial scholarship at Princeton. Contributions may be sent to the Recording Secretary, Princeton University, Princeton 08544.

Julius Gross Sr.

Julius Gross Sr., 85, died June 23 after a short illness in a hospital near his hometown of Buchs, Switzerland.

Until 1980 he owned and managed a textile company in Switzerland, and he was known as one of the largest loom exporters to Austria and Germany after World War II.

Surviving in Switzerland are two sons, Alfred and Eric Gross, a daughter, Frieda Weiser of Zurich, and seven grandchildren.

Surviving in this country are his son, Julius Gross Jr. of Rosedale Road, Princeton, a granddaughter, Maria Gross of Lawrenceville, and a grandson, John Gross of New York.

Joseph Genega of Skillman died June 17 in Somerset Medical Center, Somerville.

Born in Elizabeth, Mr. Genega was a longtime resident of Skillman. He was a machinist retired from the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. in Hopewell and an Army veteran of World War II.

Surviving are several cousins.

The service was held at a Hopewell memorial home, the Rev. Gory Staats, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Highland Cemetery.

John W. Davidson, 83, of 110 Bayard Lane, died unexpectedly June 14 at his home. An authority on Woodrow Wilson, he was emeritus senior research historian and emeritus associate editor, The Papers of Woodrow Wilson.

Born in Lynnville, Tenn., Dr. Davidson had lived in Princeton since 1963. He was graduated from Vanderbilt University and taught at Montgomery Bell Academy in Nashville, Tenn., from 1928-42. After serving in the U.S.A.A.F in Europe during World War II, he taught at Vassar College, the University of Alabama and the University of Maryland. He received a doctorate in history from Yale University in 1954.

In 1958, at the invitation of Arthur Link, then newly-appointed editor of the Wilson Papers, Dr. Davidson assembled a staff in Washington, D.C. and organized materials in the Library of Congress and elsewhere related to Woodrow Wilson. The mass of minutely researched Wilson documents were transferred to Princeton University in 1963 and became the basis for the publication of The Papers of Woodrow Wilson by the Princeton University Press.

Dr. Davidson retired from the project in 1971. He was the author of Crossroads of Freedom: the 1912 Campaign Speeches of Woodrow Wilson and numerous professional articles. He was a member of the American Historical Association and other professional associations. He was also a member of the Nassau Club.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth W. Davidson; two stepdaughters, Carla E. Goepp of Philadelphia and Hildegarde G. Meech of London, England; a stepson, R. Maximilian Goepp of Bethesda, Md.; two step-grandchildren; two half-sisters, Elizabeth Davidson of Alexandria, Va., and Mrs. Wiley Harper of Orlando, Fla.; and two half-brothers, Lewis L. Davidson of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Robert J. Davidson of Knoxville, Tenn.

A memorial service is planned for early September. Memorial contributions may be sent to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, PO Box 529, Princeton 08542.

Florence L. Chesebro, 84, a longtime Princeton resident, died June 19 at Meadow Lakes where she and her husband, Paul R. Chesebro, had been living for the past six months.

Born in North Brookfield, Mass., Mrs. Chesebro was a graduate of Framingham College in Massachusetts with a bachelor's degree in home economics. She taught for four years in Ayer, Mass., and in Stratford, Conn., school districts before moving to Princeton with her husband almost 57 years ago. Dr. Chesebro was headmaster of the Hun School for many years, and she served as dietician in charge of food services from 1951 to 1960.

Mrs. Chesebro was an active volunteer for the Mercer County Heart Association and a member of Nassau Presbyterian Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Pauline Clinton of Houston, Tex., and Dorothy C. Sayre nf Hockessein, Del.; two brothers, Howard R. Lane of Hamilton Square and David C. Lane Jr. of West Brookfield, Mass.; a sister, Margaret Matheke of East Orange; four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The service was held at Nassau Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Wallace M. Alston Jr., senior minister, and the Rev. Dr. David Crawford of Princeton Seminary co-officiating. Private burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Central Jersey Heart Association, 852 Broadway, West Long Branch, N.J. 07764, or to the American Boychoir School, 19 Lambert Drive, Princeton.

Tadeusz "Ted" Turski, 69, of Princeton died June 20 at Mercer Medical Center, Trenton.

Born in Plock, Poland, Mr. Turski lived in Princeton for 28 years. He was employed for 30 years as a designer in the engineering department of U.S. Steel, Fairless Works, before retiring two years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Gustava Turski; a daughter, Christina Phillips of Indianapolis, Ind.; a granddaughter, Melissa Phillips; and a brother, Janusz Turski of Poland.

The service and burial in Princeton Cemetery were private. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to the Hematology and Oncology Department of Mercer Medical Center, in care of Dr. Bernard Grossman, 446 Bellevue Avenue, Trenton, N.J. 08607.

Stuart D. Colman, of Princeton, died June 22 in Mercer Catholic Medical Center, Misericordia Division, Philadelphia. He was vice president of Harvard Industries, Inc. in New York City.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy R. Colman; a son, Kevin Colman of Knoxville, Tenn.; a daughter and son-in-law, Corinne and the Rev. Kyle W. McGaw of Feeding Hills, Mass.

A Mass of Resurrection was celebrated in St. Paul's Church. Memorial contributions may be made to the Church and Friary, St. Francis of Assisi, 135 West 31st Street, New York, N.Y., 10001, and directed to "Bread for the Poor."

Agnes Fleming Henry, 74, longtime administrator of the Mathematics Department at Princeton University, died June 19 in Sarasota, Fla., Memorial Hospital.

Born in Lawrenceville, Mrs. Henry moved to St. Lucia Island in the Eastern Caribbean in 1972 when she retired after 40 years with the Mathematics Department. She moved to Florida nine years ago.

Surviving are her husband, James S. Henry; a sister, Marie C. Fleming of Lawrenceville; and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial Mass of Christian Burial was in held in St. Thomas More Church, Sarasota, Fla. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, Trenton. Memorial contributions may be made to the Central New Jersey Lung Association, 145 Raritan Road, Clark, N.J. 07066.

Arthur W. Reynolds, 71, of Hightstown, formerly of Princeton, died June 20 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Reynolds lived here for 32 years and in Kingston briefly before moving to Hightstown 39 years ago. He was assistant parts manager at Coleman Buick in Trenton, having worked there for the past 39 years.

He was a member of the Kingston United Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Evelyn P. Reynolds, two daughters, Dorothea R. Hellmann of Cinnaminson and Martha Ann Reynolds at home; a brother, Frederick Reynolds of Whiting; two sisters, Edith A. Reynolds and Ivy G. Reynolds, both of Princeton.

The service was held at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, the Rev. Laurence D. Fish, vicar of St. David's Episcopal Church of Cranbury officiating. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery.

New Episcopal Chaplain At Princeton University

The Rev. Frank C. Strasburger, who has been active in Princeton University Chapel affairs, has been named Episcopal chaplain at the University. He will take up his duties this summer.

Mr. Strasburger is a 1967 graduate of Princeton, where he majored in music. He served as a member of the Princeton University Chapel Advisory Council from 1978 to 1984 and chairman from 1983-84. In 1978 he was author of The Religious Mission at Princeton, a study commissioned by the Chapel Advisory Council in preparation for the search for a new Dean of the Chapel.

After graduation, Mr. Strasburger embarked on a career of secondary school teaching and administration, earning a master's degree in educational administration from Johns Hopkins University in 1971. He taught English and religion at private schools in Connecticut and Maryland before becoming director of admissions, associate chaplain and housemaster at St. Mark's School in Southborough, Mass., in 1975. In 1980 he became head of the upper school at the Harvey School in Katonah, N.Y.

At the same time, he was studying at the Episcopal Divinity School in Cambridge, Mass., where he earned the master of divinity degree in pastoral theology in 1980. Ordained to the priesthood in his native Maryland, he served as assistant at St. Mark's Parish in New Canaan, Conn., from 1981-84, before leaving to become Canon at the American Cathedral in Paris, his most recent post.

Mr. Strasburger was married in 1982 to Caroline Coleman, a teacher and learning disabilities specialist, and the couple has two young children. They will live in the Proctor Foundation House at 53 University Place.

Bulletin Notes

The Continental Orchestra will perform Sunday at 6:30 at Nassau Christian Center.

The Continentals are a Christian musical group featuring eight vocalists and a 30-piece orchestra. The program of songs by Christian composers and arrangers is titled, "All Over the World." Now in their 19th year of operations, the Continental Orchestra and Singers is one of 18 tour groups that will travel to all 50 states and 32 countries throughout the world in the coming year.

For those interested in touring with The Continentals as vocalists, instrumentalists, or technicians, auditions will be held after the concert.

A free-will offering will be taken. For more information, call 921-0981.

The newly formed Holy Name Society of St. Charles Borromeo Parish in Montgomery Township held a formal installation last week. Father John M. Banko, the pastor of the parish and spiritual director of the Society, officiated.

The officers are David Otto, president; Lawrence O'Brien, vice-president; Philip Prophett, treasurer; and Herbert Seeburger, marshal.

A reception and the induction of 20 men as charter members of the Society was held in the Montgomery High School cafeteria.

The film "Power in Parenting: The Adolescent" will be shown Sunday at 9:30, sponsored by Princeton Alliance Church meeting in the auditorium of Princeton High School. The film is part of the six-week series by James Dobson entitled Turn Your Heart Toward Home.

Dr. Carlton James, associate professor of psychology at Rutgers University, will be on hand to answer questions. For information call Princeton Alliance Church at 799-0074.

The guest preacher Sunday at the 10 a.m. service in the Princeton University Chapel will be the Rev. William D. Thompson, professor of preaching at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa. His sermon topic will be "The Success of Failure."

Dr. Thompson is an alumnus of Wheaton College, Northwestern University and Northern Baptist Theological Seminary. He also studied at Cambridge University, England. An author and editor of a number of books, he has been a member of the faculty at Eastern since 1962.

SHORT NOTICE

AUCTION
OF RARE VALUABLE STOCK
PERSIAN RUGS

AND OTHER ORIENTAL RUGS

A complete shipment of genuine handwoven Persian and other Oriental rugs has been ordered for the different stores, and the goods did not arrive on time so that those financially responsible for the unpaid shipment have instructed their U.S. agents to auction the entire collection, plus other valuable pieces in single unit immediately.

This collection which is over 200 pieces of all sizes, in our opinion, the collection is the finest quality, beautiful design craftmanship, and colors of these handmade carpets and runners, are the finest quality Oriental rugs and carpets that we have ever seen in all our years of selling by auction.

LIGHT HORSE HILL FARM — HOPEWELL

For well over 200 years, this lovely farm has nestled peacefully in the gentle hills of Hopewell. Disturbed briefly during the chaos of the Revolution by a visit from "Light Horse" Harry Lee, it earned a place in the history of the area. Fenced meadows, timbered barns and spring house shelter the pool, terraces, gardens and house. A sensitive addition blends with the original residence and the integrity of the architectural details has been completely preserved. Two living rooms, distinguished by carved mantels, dining with walk-in fireplace, study, five bedrooms with two additional fireplaces, kitchen, and 2 full plus 2 half baths complete the interior. All on 9.2 acres $700,000

WOODS HILL

A perfect property name for this gem of a Cape Cod sited on four plus beautiful acres in the hills just above Hopewell. Separate living and dining rooms, lovely bright sun room with sliding doors to a brick terrace with sitting wall, spacious kitchen with natural pine cabinets, lavatory-laundry. On second floor three bedrooms, full tile bath. Full basement, two-car garage. Exceptional trees and shrubs including dogwoods, fruit trees, Christmas trees, and black walnut. Already level tennis court site. $295,000

WESTERN BOROUGH

On quiet, tree-lined Westcott Road, a traditional looking Colonial with lots of up-to-date surprises. A two-story living room, a master bedroom suite with fireplace in the tree tops, and a sparkling swimming pool are just a few of the spectacular features. Four more bedrooms, a second living room, dining room, a separate study and a sun porch and kitchen with breakfast rooms complete the picture. This house is ideal for a sizeable family. $650,000

STUART ROAD AREA

This skillfully designed contemporary is sited on two plus very private wooded acres within short distances of Stuart and PDS. Architect Thaddeus Longstreth has blended brick, glass and cedar to make an eye pleasing light filled house with a passive solar aspect and an efficient, comfortable floor plan. A gallery like entry hall with slate floor and decorative pool leads to a well proportioned living room with fireplace, brick dividing wall, bookcases, and sliding doors to an outside patio. Beyond is the dining room with a wall of cabinets and adjoining is the family room with a built-in brick barbeque and sliding doors to another patio. The kitchen is bright from large windows and has ample counters and cabinets plus breakfast and laundry areas. The bedroom wing with many skylights has a master suite with adjoining dressing room and bath plus three other bedrooms and bath. Partial basement, carport with storage. Occupancy in September. $560,000

IN HOPEWELL there is a large loft where fine reproductions of oil paintings are lifted off their paper and impregnated onto artists' canvas under an atmosphere of pressure They are then stretched by hand over wooden stretcher bars to hang as is, or framed The results are stunning pieces of art work, as rich in texture and color as the oils from which the reproductions were made

You are invited to come and see this extraordinary transformation in progress for yourself and, if you've always wanted a Monet but couldn't afford one, you may come away with the perfect compromise

CLEVELAND LANE

Handsome brick center hall colonial on this beautiful western Borough street, named for our 22nd President, who lived there when it was his lane only. Gracious living room with fireplace enhanced by cherry panelling, delightful garden room overlooking a terrace and professionally landscaped grounds, formal dining room, newly custom-designed kitchen and powder room on first floor. Master bedroom and bath, study with charming fireplace, two bedrooms and hall bath, maid/guest wing with two bedrooms and bath on second. $670,000

MAIN STREET

Authentic Pre-Revolutionary large stone Colonial completely restored while retaining its original charm, in the historical district of old Lawrenceville. Built in 3 stages, the original part of the house, with its huge fireplace with crane and oak beamed ceiling, is now used as a club room. Master suite with 2 fireplaces, four bedrooms and 2 baths on second. Bedroom and bath on third. $690,000

DODDS LANE

This attractive house in desirable Shadybrook offers the convenience of one floor living with its spacious living room, dining room, modern kitchen with breakfast area, three bedrooms and two baths. An added bonus - a complete lower level with panelled family room, lavatory, large 4th bedroom or hobby room and 2 car garage. Evergreens give seclusion to the rear yard - leaving an open area for a potential pool or tennis court. $295,000

HILVISTA BOULEVARD

Have you considered Hiltonia? It's affordable and convenient to Route 95 and the Amtrak Station. This 4 bedroom, 2½ bath Colonial will be custom built to your requirements. Fireplace, 2 car garage and full basement included. $175,000

PRINCE WILLIAM COURT

A villa in Princeton? Not just a villa but a modernized version retaining the charm of the classic Palladian and adding an incredible number of custom details. The soft tone of the stucco exterior and the numerous tiled balconies, open and closed, all accentuate the Mediterranean inspiration. On a cul-de-sac, the impressive doorway opens to a dramatic three-story foyer with skylight, gracious living room with mantel featuring antique wood carvings, formal dining room, butler's pantry-bar, superb kitchen, 1½ baths and library with unique fireplace (all with 10-foot ceilings) on first floor. Master bedroom with luxurious bath, four other bedrooms and two baths, with cultured marble, on second. $695,000

BRICKHOUSE FARM

Named for the classic red brick construction, this early 19th century residence in Hopewell Township is the ideal country estate or year-round gentleman's farm. The lovingly preserved 6 bedroom home has beautiful old staircases, intimate firesides and overlooks 100 acres of pasture, crops and mature woods, garden and a pond. Many outbuildings, including caretaker/guest cottage. $2,950,000

The Story of Princeton University's Land Acquisition Is Detailed in Professor Gerald Breese's New Book

Have you ever marveled at the vista of Princeton that presents itself as you turn off Route 1 and head for town via Washington Road?

The broad fields on either side of the elms arched above the roadway, the spires of the University poking above the trees on the distant hill, and the calm waters of Lake Carnegie in between set a tone, a mood, for the approach to town and gown.

Gerald Breese, professor of sociology, emeritus, at Princeton, noticed the succession of woods, lake and open fields as he was leaving Princeton one day in 1949. He assumed the Washington Road bridge was the southerly boundary of the campus, but he asked himself: "Why was it that beyond the lake and all the way to Route 1 Circle was lovely farm land on all sides rather than the blur of student-serving diners and other scruffy establishments that surround most campuses?"

Thirty-five years later he completed a book that describes when and how the University acquired that farm land and all of its real estate, large and small. It also describes the circumstances and the people who had the foresight to realize that land would be a precious asset for the University, giving it the luxury of choice as it expanded. The book, Princeton University Land 1752-1984, has been published by Princeton University Press.

A Source Book. Prof. Breese spent the better part of seven years researching and writing this study, which examines 232 years of Princeton history and involved the reading of 20,000 pages of trustee minutes, among other sources. The publication by the Press was subsidized by the University, which views it, as he does, as a resource for those who are interested either in the big picture of how the university assembled its campus, or in the details of individual acquisitions, street by street, house number by house number.

Prof. Breese begins in 1752 when the College of New Jersey accepted an offer of 4.5 acres for a campus from Nathaniel FitzRandolph, 200 acres of woodlots (some of it off what is now Route 206, some off Mt. Lucas Road and Bunn Drive), and money with which to get started.

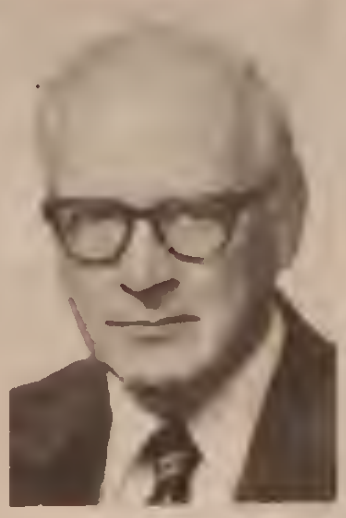
The term "campus," from the Latin word meaning "field," to describe the grounds of a college, apparently originated at Princeton, in a 1774 letter written by a student. Before that time the word used was "yard," as in Harvard Yard. Prof. Breese cites Alexander Leitch's A Princeton Companion as the source of this bit of etymology.



Gerald Breese

From the 4.5 acres on which Nassau Hall was built, enabling the College of New Jersey to move here with 70 students in 1756, Prof. Breese traces the accumulation in acreage to 1984 when Princeton University owned 4,000 acres. With the subsequent sale of the Mathey property off Pretty Brook Road and sale rather than lease of Forrestal property off Route 1 to Merrill Lynch, that total has been reduced somewhat today, Prof. Breese says.

Purchase of Farms. Through generous use of maps, drawings and tables, the author shows the growth of the college (land and buildings) in relation to the growth of the community. He describes the large land acquisitions first, before proceeding to the smaller ones, listing them in chronological order. Not surprisingly, the larger land holdings were once farms.

Among them were Prospect (35 acres), used for many years as the president's home; the Potter Farm (155 acres), extending south of Prospect to Stony Brook (Lake Carnegie), from Washington Road on the east to the railroad on the west; the Olden Farm east of Washington Road, site of the athletic fields, Palmer Stadium, Jadwin Gym, Fine Hall, Peyton Hall and Jadwin Physical Laboratory;

Also, Springdale Farm, where the Graduate College was eventually built and the golf course laid out; the Gray Farm or Butler tract across Harrison Street, which became the site of graduate student and faculty housing; the Mather and Schenck farms between Alexander Street and Washington Road; and the Pullen and Jewel Farms on the other side of Washington Road.

The University's decision in 1951 to accept increasing amounts of U.S. Government-sponsored research provided the impetus for the acquisition of the 825-acre Rockefeller Institute across Route 1 in Plainsboro. This purchase, plus the Phipps estate and large chunks of the former Walker-Gordon Farm, formed the basis of what became the Forrestal campus, designed to generate income for the University and set the standard for office and research development along Route 1.

Individuals and Groups. Prof. Breese also describes University acquisition by street and house number. One chapter is devoted to the alumni groups and others who played a role in land acquisition. The South East Club, for instance, was named for a group of students living in the south entry of the East College in the 1870s. One of their number, Moses Taylor Pyne, whom they called "Momo," became a university trustee at age 28.

His trustee tales of university needs apparently inspired this group to become extraordinarily active and generous benefactors to their alma mater. The group included Charles Scribner, who provided the Princeton University Press building; Howard Russell Butler and his brother William Allen Butler, involved in assembling the acreage for Lake Carnegie and the Butler Tract;

Also, Henry B. Thompson, whose idea it was to plant the elms along Washington Road and to hire Ralph Adams Cram as supervising architect, and who was active in the establishment of the Princeton Inn; Bayard Henry, a descendant of Nathaniel FitzRandolph and responsible for several large and small acquisitions and the removal of the railroad station from near Blair Arch to its present location, thus opening up space for several new dormitories; and Cleveland and Earl Dodge.

Moses Taylor Pyne, for whom Pyne Tower at the Graduate College, Upper Pyne (no longer standing), Lower Pyne (no longer owned by the University) and Pyne Library (given by his mother) were all named, also provided Merwick as the first residence for graduate students. Prof. Breese provides a clear description of the controversy between supporters of Dean West of the Graduate School and President Wilson over the location of the Graduate College.

Lake Carnegie. Of particular interest is the story of how Howard Russell Butler '76 persuaded Andrew Carnegie to give Princeton a lake for the use of the rowing crew while painting the Scottish-American steel maker's portrait. Taken from biographical material made available by Howard Russell Butler Jr. '20, a longtime Princeton resident and landscape architect, the story is told in a lengthy appendix.

As coxswain on the six-oar college barge, Mr. Butler Sr. had experienced the dangers and difficulties of dodging steam boats on the narrow Delaware and Raritan Canal, the only place for university crew at the time. He and his friends dreamed of "cleaning out the marshes which extended from the campus to Kingston, building a dam and flooding them."

Mr. Carnegie had created "lochs" in Scotland, and when Mr. Butler described his dream to the philanthropist during a portrait sitting, he expressed interest and asked for a cost estimate. Shortly thereafter, President Wilson paid a call on Mr. Carnegie to ask for a contribution to the preceptorial system. Upon learning that the steel magnate was going to give a gift of a lake to Princeton University, Wilson reportedly swallowed his disappointment but later remarked at an alumni dinner: "We went to Andrew Carnegie to ask (for) bread, and he gave us cake."

The acquisition of 400 acres of marsh at the back of adjoining farms proved to be no easy task, particularly when the word got out that Andrew Carnegie was behind the project. Nor was the actual construction, which was supervised by Mr. Butler, who had been a New York patent lawyer and executive before taking up portrait and landscape painting full time in 1885. The situation

Open Air Theatre Begins Its 1986 Season With Good Cast in "Measure for Measure"

A perfect June evening furnished a backdrop to the Washington Crossing Open Air Theatre last week. The attraction was Shakespeare's Measure for Measure, produced by Shakespeare '70, Inc., and directed by John F. Erath.

The Shakespeare '70 group has been staging Shakespeare-in-the-Park for 17 years in a row, and in that time has presented 12 different plays by the Bard. In recent years it has become traditional to open the Washington Crossing summer season with one of its productions.

Measure for Measure is not one of Shakespeare's most loved comedies. Though it ends well, a shadow of evil hangs over it, and it takes considerable twisting and stretching of the plot to allow virtue ultimately to triumph.

A seemingly innocent whimsy sets the mischief in motion — Duke Vincentio's decision to absent himself from Vienna and appoint a deputy, the morally upright Angelo, to oversee the strict new regulations governing the moral life of the city. Angelo turns out not to be so saintly after all. Having condemned a young man to death for getting his fiancee with child, he is appealed to by the young man's sister, Isabella, and he allows lust to sway his judgment. He offers to spare her brother if Isabella will sleep with him. She refuses, even though her condemned brother begs her to yield.

The Substitution Trick. The play might now become a straightforward tragedy except that the Duke, disguising himself as a friar, returns to see how things are going in Vienna. He learns of Isabella's dilemma and Angelo's fall from grace, and he devises an elaborate scheme to set all right. It involves Isabella's pretending to yield to Angelo's demand but substituting another woman, a spurned former fiancee of Angelo's, to visit him at night. (Shakespeare apparently liked this trick, for a similar substitution spiced the plot of last summer's Much Ado About Nothing.) His plan also involves having an anonymous criminal executed in place of Isabella's condemned brother.

The Duke seems to enjoy spinning out the mystery as long as he can, but all comes clear at the end — except, as one critic has said, hardly anyone gets what he deserves or deserves what he gets.

The main story is lightened, or interrupted (depending on one's taste), by a variety of low-comedy scenes involving a bawd, a pander, a streetwalker, a constable, an executioner and a dissolute prisoner.

Director Erath cast his main characters wisely. All are good, and they need to be good to create belief in a somewhat improbable story. John Anastasio is excellent in the difficult part of Angelo. Appropriately attired mainly in black, he is naturally authoritative yet convincing as his ideals begin to crumble into a passion for Isabella. Wendy Yazujian's Isabella is both modest and strong. She has a luminous sincerity that helps to offset the skepticism modern audiences may feel over Isabella's valuation of her own virginity in preference to saving her brother's life.

Engaging Performance. In the role of the duke, Stephen Kazakoff gives an engaging performance. He is positive but not domineering, and one senses an almost boyish pleasure in his priestly masquerading and as he puts detractors, like the scamp Lucio, in their place. Lee Harrod is forceful as Escalus, an ancient lord.

Of the comic characters I was especially taken by Tom Moffit, who enjoys and makes others enjoy the impertinent humor of Lucio, and by the simple-minded absurdity of the constable Elbow, as played by Jan Applebaum.

Gail Erath has done her usual excellent job in costuming the play. The set, designed by Gerald E. Guarnieri, is modeled on an authentic Elizabethan-style theatre in England. Equipped with an upper level, it will be enlarged for future productions, according to plans of Shakespeare '70.

As Washington Crossing Open Air Theatre schedules its Shakespeare attraction for only one weekend, the play will not continue this week. The production may be seen, however, this fall on Comcast Cablevision (Channel 19) in a special presentation in cooperation with Trenton State College.

McCarter Announces Plans for 1986-87 Season; Will Inaugurate Series of Non-Traditional Events

Four dance companies, five artists making their debut on the Music-at-McCarter series, three choices of drama subscription plans — these are among the highlights of the 1986-87 season at McCarter Theatre Center for the Performing Arts.

McCarter's Artistic Director Nagle Jackson and Programming Director William W. Lockwood Jr. have also announced the return of a repertory drama season and the inauguration of a "Cutting Edge" series devoted to more non-traditional attractions in the music, dance and theatre disciplines. In addition, McCarter will bring back popular one-night only events such as Marcel Marceau, Mummenschanz, and the Flying Karamazov Brothers, as well as the Crackerjacks series for children.

In its first full season in the newly-renovated McCarter, the 1986-87 drama series will include American revivals and world premieres. The season will be divided into fall and spring, with an old and a new play paired for five performance weeks in each mini-season, except for the final play, which will run alone for three weeks.

The drama season will open October 22 with a revival of Thornton Wilder's Our Town, which had its world premiere at McCarter in 1938. Mr. Jackson has staged this work at various theaters, and he sees it as "a hard and humorous, wrenchingly emotional existential statement — not the high school play you may remember." Our Town will run through November 16.

Feiffer Satire. Paired with it in repertory will be Jules Feiffer's satire of life in urban America, Little Murders, which will run November 5 through November 23. Originally scheduled for this past spring, this 1968 play is described as "wickedly funny, an hilarious expose of terrorism in the city and in the home."

The Spring Rep will begin with Alfred de Musset's Don't Trifle with Love, translated from the French and directed by Mr. Jackson. The French romance will open March 11 and continue through April 5. Inspired by Shakespearean romantic comedy, Don't Trifle with Love is described as "high wit and gaiety laced with psychological insight and intrigue."

In the second slot of the Spring Rep, McCarter will present a world premier, especially commissioned, by playwright James McLure, who wrote Lone Star, Privnte Wors, Laundry and Bourbon and The Day They Shot John Lennon. Entitled Night Dreams nf Nnpoleon (On the Eve of Waterloo) and directed by Mr. Jackson, it will be performed between March 25 and April 12.

Night Dreams is described as a "post-modernist" melange of dialogue, music, mime and stage invention. Part dream, part reality it transports the modern audience to the world that Napoleon created out of the French empire before 1812.

The season will close with either Henrik Ibsen's Hedda Gabler or Anton Chekhov's Uncle Vonyn. With funding support from the AT&T Foundation, McCarter will engage a guest director of international stature to stage one of these masterpieces of world theatre.

New Approach. McCarter will offer subscribers the lowest price in three years, 40 percent off single ticket prices, and two choices. The "grand slam" series will include all five plays; the "triple play" series includes Our Town, Don't Trifle With Love and the Ibsen or Chekhov drama for those who prefer more traditional theatre.

Grand slam subscribers will have priority seating, ticket exchange, restaurant discounts and a coupon redeemable for 10 percent off the cost of additional tickets to any of the five plays, the PJ&B musical, the Stage Two production or A Christmas Carol.

For Yuppies. New in the coming season will be a Wednesday evening after work series designed for young professionals and available to Triple Play subscribers only. There will be a 7 p.m. curtain which will permit dinner after work at a restaurant in and around Princeton and getting home at a reasonable "work night" hour

Drama specials include the return of the annual production of Dicken's A Christmas Corol, December 13-24, and the annual Stage Two production of a new work to be presented in a setting in which the audience will be on the stage surrounding the actors. This new work to be announced is scheduled for January 21-February 1.

Dates have also been set for Playwrights-at-McCarter, a Monday night series of staged readings of new plays featuring post-play discussions between playwright and audience at Forbes College Theater (free admission). The dates are February 23, March 9, 23, April 6, 27, and May 11, all at 7:30.

Dance-at-McCarter 1986-87 will feature four American companies: Paul Taylor, November 17-19; The Dance Theatre of Harlem, January 9-11; Alvin Ailey, February 20-22, and Twyla Tharp, March 16-18.

Music Series. The Music-at-McCarter Series will return with 10 solo artists or groups, which will be split into two subscription series of five events each. Performers will be Krystian Zimerman, piano, October 20; Julian Bream, lute and guitar, November 11; The Academy of Ancient Music, Christopher Hogwood, director, November 24;

Also, Samuel Ramey, bass, January 6; Kyung-Wha Chung, violin, February 2; Horacio Gutierrez, piano, February 16; Nadja Salerno-Sonnenberg, violin, March 9; the Stuttgart Chamber Orchestra, Karl Munchinger, conductor, March 30; Claudio Arrau, piano, April 20, and the Tokyo String Quartet, May 4.

McCarter will also inaugurate "The Cutting Edge" series — innovative performance artists who bring their own, progressive visions to the disciplines of music, theater and dance. Scheduled for 1986-87 are Philip Glass and his Ensemble, October 27; Avner the Eccentric, featured in the motion picture Jewel of the Nile, November 10; the Alchemidians, juggling artists Michael Moschen and mime-clown Bob Berky, January 12; the "Next Wave" dance troupes of Bill T. Jones and Arnie Zane, February 13; and Mark Morris, a new dance artist, plus an additional event to be announced.

In the category of family favorites, PJ&B will start the season with H.M.S. Pinafore, September 25-28; the Y Chamber Symphony will perform the Bach Brandenburg Concerti December 29, and Marcel Marceau, The Chieftains, Mummenschanz, and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band each have a time slot in the McCarter schedule.

Finally, there will be four events in the Crackerjacks series for kids of all ages.

Subscriptions for all series are now available from the McCarter subscription office.

HOW I SPENT MY SUMMER VACATION.

FRIDAY
VACATION BEGINS. TOOK GINNY TO WINBERIE'S. I HAD THE BARBECUED CHICKEN. SHE HAD POACHED SALMON. TALKED FOR HOURS ABOUT THE MATING HABITS OF SALMON. SHE SEEMED IMPRESSED BY MY DEPTH.

SATURDAY
PLAYED SOFTBALL, THEN TOOK TINA TO WINBERIE'S. I ORDERED GAZPACHO FOR BOTH OF US. SHE SAID HERS WAS COLD. I SAID IT WAS SUPPOSED TO BE. SHE WAS IMPRESSED BY MY SAVOIR-FAIRE.

SUNDAY
BETH ASKED ME OUT WE WENT TO WINBERIE'S. (THIS IS GETTING TO BE A HABIT!) I HAD THE SPECIAL BURGER AND FELT LIKE I WAS IN HEAVEN. BUT HAD TO MAKE A QUICK EXIT WHEN I SAW GINNY COMING IN THE FRONT DOOR-PHEW!

MONDAY
GINNY FOUND OUT ABOUT BETH, AND BETH FOUND OUT ABOUT GINNY. AND NOW NEITHER ONE WILL SPEAK TO ME. OH, WELL. TOOK TINA TO WINBERIE'S AGAIN. WE BOTH HAD THE PASTA PRIMAVERA. FANTASTIC.

TUESDAY
TINA FOUND OUT ABOUT GINNY AND BETH, AND NOW THEY ALL HATE ME, SO I WENT TO WINBERIE'S ALONE. GIRL AT THE NEXT TABLE WAS EATING A GRILLED CAJUN TENDERLOIN SALAD. STARTED TALKING TO HER ABOUT CAJUN FOLKLORE. SHE WAS IMPRESSED. WE'RE MEETING AT THE SAME SPOT TOMORROW. (OKAY, I'M EASY, BUT I'VE GOT GREAT TASTE IN RESTAURANTS.)

WEDNESDAY
I THINK I'M PRETTY SERIOUS ABOUT THIS GIRL. WE HAVE A LOT IN COMMON. NAMELY, J.B WINBERIE. ONLY FOUR DAYS OF VACATION LEFT! MAYBE I CAN GET A LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

ENJOY THE TASTES OF SUMMER, THROUGH AUG. 3.

Ah, Summertime. Swimsuits and barbecues. Warm nights and suntans. And at J.B. Winberie, you'll love our special summer entrées, all for under $10. Barbecued Breast of Chicken and Grilled Tenderloin Salad. Chilled Gazpacho. Poached Salmon. And cool summer drinks.
All the things that make summer special.

First Offering of 1986 June Opera Festival, 'Magic Flute' Promises Nicely Shaped Season

The June Opera Festival of New Jersey opened its third season on Friday, June 20, with its presentaton of Mozart's "singspiel," The Magic Flute. The production was directed and conducted respectively by the Festival's co-founders, Peter Westergaard and Michael Pratt. Held in Kirby Auditorium on the campus of the Lawrenceville School, the opera played to an enthusiastic, near-capacity audience.

The performance heard opening night brought promises of a nicely shaped season assuming certain glaring technical problems are ironed out. It's common knowledge that every show works on a tight production schedule, and most open with the hope that rough edges will not be too noticeable. Though the current production had more than its share of technical difficulties with moving sets and going lights, the professionalism of the entire operation was secure. These problems will undoubtedly be settled within the next performance or two.

The plot of this "singspiel" is thinner in substance and credibility than most of Mozart's operatic work. Its saving graces are the symbolism in the plot, which roughly parallels the tenets of Freemasonry, and Mozart's finely crafted music. These are ingeniously combined to give the work its character: the structural ease of "singspiel," the comedic properties of "opera buffa," and the solemnity of "opera seria," all integrated into a palpable package.

This palpability was further fostered by Mr. Westergaard's masterfully wrought translation. Having done translations for each of the previous Festival productions and for the Princeton University Opera Theatre, Mr. Westergaard has shown himself to be a consummate translator of libretti in German and Italian, carefully wedding his English phrases to the composers' melodies. In this production, Mr. Westergaard heightened the humor of the libretto by using language which is idiomatically up-to-date. In maintaining the text's musical and poetic integrity, he rendered a translation which was readily understandable, accessible, and thoroughly enjoyable.

A Strong Cast. Though the cast was generally very strong in voice, certain individuals were exceptional in their performance.

The most appreciated voices of the evening belonged to David Du Pont as Papageno and Carole L. Haber as The Queen of the Night. Mr. Du Pont, who has returned for his third year with the Festival, sang with power, stamina, and a sense of humor. His lucid baritone had a broad range of expressiveness which effectively carried over into his character portrayol. Ms. Haber's coloratura soprano voice executed the role's virtuosic passages with great agility and precision, spinning out arpeggiated passages and high F's with pinpoint accuracy.

Roberta Gumbel's work in the role of Pamina was equally exciting. Her voice had a lovely, fluid sound, generously supported yet maintaining an element of lightness. Her aria of lament in Act II was delivered with plaintive bitterness at the appareot loss of her lover's affections. The part of Tamino was capably sung by Robert Swensen, whose tenor voice had a rather dark quality. This served him well in his lovely aria sung at first sight of Pamino's pictore. His stage movements were sometimes aimless, though, and his range of emotions as ao actor was limited.

Other singers of note: Martha Elliot played a spritely and playful Papagena with her familiar, lyric soprano voice. Mischa Ferenzov's richly hued bass was a great asset to the cast, and Peter C. Cody cut a sinister figure as Monostatos.

Excellent Ensembles. Two sets of ensembles also added greatly to the dynamics of this production. As the three ladies-in-waiting to the queen, Jayne S. West, Genie Grunewald and Cindy Oxberry had voices which were perfectly matched in timbre and weight. The roles of the three spirits were sung in this performance hy Elise Kanda, John Hansen and Alexandra Agius. These children are to be especially commended for their endurance and their marvelously light tone quality.

As in past seasons, the orchestra was comprised of members of the New Jersey Symphony, of which Mr. Pratt is associate conductor. The relationship hetween the orchestra and a conductor whom the musicians know and trust is a special one, and this was evident in the responsiveness and musicality of the ensemble.

Alan Muraoka's set designs offer a marked change from the sumptuousness of the sets seen in past years' productions. Their sparseness aod use of special techniques effectively leaves much of the fairy-tale nature of the settings to the imagination of the audience. The sets are lit hy Rick Buller, who teods to rely too much on shadows to evoke the mysticism of some scenes. Costumes hy Gregg Barnes and Kitty Leech are sumptuous and colorful.

Though opening oight held a few more surprises than anyone had counted on, the technical problems with the production will assuredly be smoothed out in time. The story is delightful, the music is charmingly Mozart, and it is all splendidly sung and played. This production should not be missed.

Three performaoces of The Magic Flute remain: June 28, July 1 and 5, all starting at 7:30 p.m. The Festival's other production, Rossini's Cinderello, can be seen on June 27, 29 and July 3 at 7:30 p.m. and on July 6 at 3 p.m. For ticket information call 683-5468.

Wagner Descendant Due For Franz Liszt Festival

Gottfried Wagner, who is the great-grandson of Richard Wagner and the great-great-grandson of Franz Liszt, will be in Princeton this weekend for a two-day celebration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Franz Liszt.

The event will feature concerts in Richardson Auditorium Saturday evening and Sonday afternoon when the New York City Housing Authority Orchestra, under the direction of Victor C. Symonette, will perform works by both composers. The compositions will be introduced by poems of Goethe and Lena as well as letters written by Wagner and Liszt to each other.

The program Saturday evening will include Wagner's Foust Overture and Liszt's Foust Symphony and Mephisto Woltz, as well as Wagner's Tonnhaueser Overture. Sunday's program will include music from Liszt's Oratorio Christus

Summer Festival Begins At the Choir College

The Summer Festival of Music at Westminster Choir College begins this week with the opening of Summer Session '86.

More than 40 free events organized by the Westminster Office of Continuing Education will feature music performed almost nightly throughout the summer. Admission is free to all campus events.

A joint voice recital will be given by Westminster faculty members, Judith Civitano, Lois Laverty, Thomas Faracco and William Reiley Thursday at 7. Immediately following at 8:30 p.m., Gunnar Sahlin and Martha Davidson of the Westminster Conservatory will present a joint recital of music for cello and piano.

Friday at 8:30, composer and jazz pianist Laurie Altman will premiere a new work for soprano, tenor, baritone, organ and piano titled A Sonata for J.S. Bach. Assisting Mr. Altman will be Tracey Chebra, Thomas Faracco, William Reiley, Ed Arter and Alan Mallach.

Rounding out this first week of concerts will be a recital Saturday at 8:30 presented by Westminster vocal camp counselors performing vocal, piano and organ selections.

All events are held in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus. For a complete calendar of the summer concerts call the Westminster Summer Session Office at 924-7416.

GUNNAR SAHLIN, cellist with the Stockholm Philharmonic, will perform Thursday at 8:30 with pianist Martha C. Davidson at Westminster Choir College.

Swedish Cellist Here For Concert Thursday

Westminster Choir College will present Gunnar Sahlin, a cellist with the Stockholm Philharmonic Orchestra, in concert with Martha Cook Davidson, pianist, Thursday at 8:30 in Bristol Chapel. The program will include a suite by Couperin, Sonata no. 2 by Martinu, and Sonata in F major by Brahms.

Gunnar Sahlin, a native of Sweden, began playing the cello at the age 11 while attending a community music school. He continued his studies in musicology and art history at Uppsala University. As part of his university work, he was awarded a scholarship for three years of studies in Prague, Czechoslovakia, at the Academy of Music and with Josef Chuchro, cellist in the Suk Trio.

Upon returning to Sweden, Mr. Sahlin was employed by the Malmo Symphony Orchestra for two years, after which he joined the Stockholm Philharmonic Orchestra. Between 1979-80 he studied with Harvey Shapiro at Juilliard during a year's sabbatical. He completed a master's degree in music at Stockholm University, where he also founded and conducted the Stockholm University Chamber Orchestra. In addition to his work in the Stockholm Philharmonic Orchestra, he has been a member of the Concert Hall Quartet and taught private students.

Martha Cook Davidson received her master's degree in accompanying and vocal coaching, from Westminster Choir College, where she studied with Martin Katz and Phyllis Lehrer. She is currently director of the Westminster Conservatory of Music and a member of its piano faculty. She is a student of Ena Bronstein.

Admission to the concert is open to the public and free of charge.

Two Double Features Open Summer Cinema

A double-bill composed of Pixote, director Hector Babenco's savagely compassionate film about the slum kids of Brazil's Sao Paolo, and Padre, Padrone, by Italy's Taviani Brothers (Night of the Shooting Stars) will open the tenth anniversary season of McCarter Theatre's Summer Cinema at Kresge Auditorium this Wednesday. The two movies will play through Friday, (Pixote at 7:15 and Padre, Padrone at 9:30).

The ten week summer series of double-features will continue on Saturday and Sunday with the combination of Jean-Luc Godard's Hail Mary (in its Princeton area premiere) and Louis Malle's Pretty Baby, starring the then 12-year-old Brooke Shields. Hail Mary will be shown at 7:30 pm and Pretty Baby at 9:15.

Pixote, the first feature by the director of last year's hit film Kiss of the Spider Woman, is based on the fact that there are more than three million homeless children in Brazil who wander the slums of its cities, because Brazilian law prevents anyone under the age of 18 from being prosecuted for criminal acts. Pixote is a baby-faced youngster of ten, abandoned by his parents, and he and two companions are jailed regularly in a juvenile detention center where they experience everything from inmate rape and blackmail to police brutality and murder.

Eventually, the trio flee the school and embark on a life of petty crime, moving from small thefts to drug dealing, and buying the "rights" to an aging prostitute whom they set up as a decoy in order to rob her customers. They advance from petty crime to violence and murder, and by the film's end, Pixote has killed three people—and he is still only ten years old.

The story of Padre, Podrone, is based on the true facts about a shepherd who had lived in almost complete isolation in the hills of Sardinia until he turned 20, and then went on to become a soldier, scholar, and professor of linguistics. The Taviani Brothers perceive their protagonist not as an unsocialized innocent, but as a figure whose character was formed both by his own monumental loneliness and estrangement and also by his terrifying and tyrannical father.

In their 1977 film, which was the first ever to win both the Grand and the Critics Prize at the Cannes Film Festival, the Tavianis juxtapose crudeness and lyricism, Boccaccio and Chagall: goats talk, peasants burst into song, and statues come to life.

Jean-Luc Godard's Hail Mary, is the noted French director's scrupulous but slangy modernization of the Annunciation and the Nativity. Although the film was condemned as blasphemous by the Catholic Church, and denounced—sight unseen—by the Pope, the film is an utterly serious attempt by Godard to examine the nature of the relations between men and women, and the possibility of profound friendships not based on sex. With the chastity of the young Myriem Roussel (Mary) as his focus, Godard has created a meditation on the enigma of womanhood, as perceived by any man who is both drawn to and excluded from her secrets.

Godard's feature is accompanied by its companion film, the 25-minute The Book of Mary, by Anne-Marie Mieville, which deals with the breakup of a marriage as seen through the eyes of an exceptionally sweet, levelheaded little girl.

Pretty Baby the first American film by French director Louis Malle (Murmur of the Heart, Atlantic City) is set in the high-class bordello of Storyville, the legendary red-light district of 1917 New Orleans. Despite the sensationalism that surrounded the appearance (in 1978) of the then 12-year-old Brooke Shields as Violet, the child prostitute, Pretty Baby is really about the last days of Storyville (closed by the U.S. Navy shortly after the outbreak of World War I) and a romantic memoir about Violet's brief liaison and marriage to an obsessed photographer (Keith Carradine) whose character is based on the famous E.J. Belloq, whose portraits of the Storyville whores are now recognized as classics.

Discount Coupon Books for the full ten-week Summer Cinema '86 season, containing ten discount coupons, representing a savings of one-third over the cost of a single admission, are available from the McCarter box office. They will also be on sale at Kresge Auditorium at the time of all screenings.

'Pinocchio' This Weekend At Hopewell Theatre

The story of Pinocchio, a wooden puppet that is brought to life, will be presented Friday and Saturday as part of the Children's Classic Series at the Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell.

Directed by Bruce Curless, Pinocchio, is the last children's show in the current series. A four-part summer mini-series will begin in mid July. The series features an improvisational format designed especially for the younger crowd.

Performances of Pinocchio are Friday at 10 and Saturday at 10:30 and 1. Admission is $3.50 with group rates available. The theatre is located at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

Phone the theatre box office at 466-2766 for reservations.

ART

Student Art Is Sought On "Visions of Peace"

New Jersey students are being invited to portray their "Visions of a World at Peace" in artworks that will be chosen for an exhibit of international children's art at the Squibb Gallery.

The exhibit, planned for December 14 to January 11, 1987, is being coordinated by Squibb and Partners in Peacemaking, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting world peace through educational programs. Educators throughout the state are presently being contacted with details of the competition for art by New Jersey students that will represent the United States in the collection. Those chosen will be displayed next to the "visions of peace" of students from around the world, including Canada, Finland, France, Norway, Sri Lanka, Thailand and the U.S.S.R.

The show will open to the public following a December 13 invitation-only preview, with proceeds benefitting Partners in Peacemaking. Serving as honorary chairman is Anne Martindell of Princeton who heads the advisory committee for the New Jersey Institute on Conflict Resolution and Peace Studies and is former U.S. Ambassador to New Zealand.

For additional information contact Ms. Drew at (201) 231-1181.

The Princeton Art Association will sponsor three exhibitions during the month of July.

Watercolors by Margaret Orr will be at the Center for Health Affairs, 760 Alexander Street. Works by Dorothy Koch will be at the First National Bank of Central Jersey, Route 518, Rocky Hill. And fiber art by Hanneke de Neve will be at Tucker Anthony/R.L. Day, 100 Nassau Street.

All will run from July 1-31.

The 13th annual Mercer County Arts Exhibition will open Friday from 7-9 p.m. at the Library Gallery on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College.

Area artists whose work will be included in the exhibition are Dierdre Sheehan, Catherine Louis, James Maio and Jean Lindabury of Princeton; Shari Holmes and Susan Tang of Lawrence, and Jon Lash of Hopewell.

The exhibition will remain on view through August 22.

Nuclear Disarmament Is Not Partisan Issue

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I write in response to Thomas O. Meehan's letter in your June 18 issue criticizing the Princeton Borough Council for passing a resolution in support of the Simultaneous Nuclear Test Ban Act.

I strongly object to Mr. Meehan's attempt to portray the Comprehensive Test Ban and nuclear disarmament as a partisan issue. This issue transcends partisan politics; it involves the very survival of every resident of planet Earth.

Thankfully, there is ample evidence that most other politicians perceive this basic truth. Thirty-nine New Jersey municipal and county councils have now approved resolutions urging a nuclear test ban — including predominantly Republican councils such as Princeton Township, Hamilton, and Lawrence in our area.

In addition, the New Jersey Congressional delegation showed bipartisan support for the Comprehensive Test Ban (CTB) by voting 12-2 in February for a resolution urging President Reagan to resume CTB negotiations, which he has refused to engage in since taking office.

I also find it rather small-minded and short-sighted to suggest that a CTB and nuclear disarmament are unrelated to issues a local government should be involved in. Nothing is more important to the well-being and continued survival of local communities than prevention of nuclear war.

Even if nuclear bombs are never unleashed again, they are undermining the ability of local governments to adequately provide such basic services as police protection, sewer upkeep, and low/moderate income housing by draining away federal resources which would otherwise be available to assist with these needs.

In fact, a recent analysis by Dr. Victor Sidel showed that 64% of the Federal Funds Budget, i.e. exeluding trust funds such as social security, goes to pay for overall military spending, while only 21% goes for human and physical resources.

We applaud Mayor Barbara Sigmund, Councilman John Huntoon, Councilman Bill Cherry, and the many other members of local governments throughout our state and nation seeking to promote the well-being of their constituents by supporting a Comprehensive Test Ban.

Princeton Has Obligation To Replace the Loop Bus

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a letter I have sent to members of Borough Council:

Since reading in TOWN TOPICS (June 11) of the plight of the people who depended on the loop bus for essential transportation, I have been wracking my brains for a solution to the problem. I do not have answers myself, but I am confident that a program can be developed that will meet the most serious needs of these residents.

My first thought was that a group of volunteers could schedule regular rides but I realize that the matter of insurance would make that impossible.

Beyond the information in TOWN TOPICS, I really know nothing about the specific needs of those who made up the average of 80 riders a day on the loop bus. Certainly, in making any plan, you would require such data. Also, it seems clear to me that the Borough and the Township should work on the problem together.

Could a voucher system be set up and Crosstown 62 expanded to take care of marketing and medical visits for those of limited income who would pay the price of a bus fare? Or could a loop bus serve one or two days a week so that errands, trips to doctors' offices and such could be scheduled?

I believe the community has an obligation to see that some form of transportation is available for these Princeton residents.

Accident Victim Thankful To All Who Offered Aid

To the Editor of Town Topics:

To Chief Michael Carnevale, Capt. Thomas Michaud, Lt. Peter Hanley, Sgt. William Clark, and Officer Carol Raymond of the Princeton Borough Police; tu the witness who held my hand and stayed with me when I was very much alone; to Laurie of the First Aid and Rescue Squad; to Judy, Donna, and Dr. Joseph Hamlett of the Princeton Medical Center E.R.; to reporter Preston Eekmeder of TOWN TOPICS; to my family and friends at Morven and at home; to those in the community who expressed their concern in such generous ways; I offer my profound and heartfelt thanks.

To the family of the late Frederick Woodbridge, who ventured beyond their own personal grief to comfort me, I express my sympathy and my admiration and gratitude for their rare and most exceptional grace.

To those of you who read or heard of the June 16 tragedy at Bayard Lane and Paul Robeson Place, I ask you all to renew your efforts to make Princeton a safe as well as a beautiful and exciting town in which to live and work.

Post 76 Wins Four in a Row, Leads in Legion League Race

Princeton Post 76 is rolling in the Mercer County American Legion League race.

Last week, the Princeton club won all four of its games, coming from behind in two, to remain on top in the ten-team league with an 8-1 record Bordentown and Hamilton are both a half game behind, tied with 8-2 records. One third into the season, the league has developed into a three-way race among these three teams.

In agreeing that his team is on a roll, Post 76 manager Larry Bender quickly added this caveat: "We still have to go out and play our kind of game; obviously, we didn't on Friday. (Post 76 edged Lawrence Post 414, 10-9, Friday, after trailing 8-1 after three innings.)

"If we don't play our game, anybody can beat us," insisted Bender. "We can't afford to let a team like Lawrence beat us."

In games coming up, Post 76 will play the second of a two-game series with Trenton Post 93 this Wednesday evening at 6 at Mercer County Park's Field No. 2. On Friday at 5:45 it will oppose Hopewell Post 339 on Field No. 2 again and come back the next day for a Saturday game at 1 against Hopewell on the Hopewell Valley High School field in Pennington.

On Monday it will play a makeup of a rained-out game against Ewing Post 314 at Field 2 and on Tuesday it will be at Mercer County park for a game with Hightstown Post 148.

Under the league scheduling, each team plays the other nine in a back-to-back series for the first 18 games. It then plays each team once more for a total of 27.

Post 76's last two-game set will be a showdown July 8-9 with Hamilton Post 31. "We'll see when we get there," commented Bender, refusing to look ahead. "Right now, our most important game is the next one we play. That's the way we've been keeping it all season."

16-Hit Attack. After Friday's scare against Lawrence, Post 76 came right back the next day under the lights at Eggerts Crossing Field with a 16-hit attack to top the Lawrence club again, 9-5. "We had a lot of guys driving in a lot of runs," said Bender.

After three scoreless innings, Post 76 broke through for four runs in the fourth. A double by Tim Rumer, RBI singles by Mike Walker and John Mitchell and a two-run single by John Blankstein accounted for the runs.

Post 76 added two more runs in the seventh on hits by Darren Villani and Dan Sexton and a double by catcher Craig Ender. It sealed the outcome with three more in the ninth. In addition to Ender and Rumer, Villani, who had three hits and is batting around the .400 mark, and Sexton also doubled for the victors.

Jay Jordan, pitching with only three days rest, got the win — his first. He was relieved in the seventh by Jeff Robinson, who was touched for all five Lawrence runs in the last two innings. Former Hun School hurler Tom Jingoli was charged with the loss, his second in three decisions.

In the Hole Early. "We dug a hole for ourselves. Luckily, we were able to come out," commented Bender on the wild and woolly game with Lawrence the previous day.

Things quickly went down hill for Post 76 starter Tim Rumer. He was not sharp from the start and was further victimized by some loose play in the Post 76 outfield that was weakened defensively by the absence of Dave Sisson, who was attending Princeton High graduating ceremonies, and Chuck McColl, who was injured.

Lawrence capitalized and pushed five runs across in the fifth. After Post 414 had plated three more runs in the third to take an 8-1 lead and Rumer gave way to Bill Byrne on the mound, Bender gathered his team together on the sidelines for the third time. "I've only got one thing to say," Bender told his players. "We've got a lot of time left; let's see what you're made of."

Post 76 showed Bender in the fifth inning when it scored eight runs to take a 9-8 lead. Rumer started Post 76's most explosive inning of the season with a walk off Lawrence starter Kurt Carpenter. Hard-hitting Ender followed with a bloop single over second and Mike Walker walked to jam the bases. Byrne grounded out, the runners holding.

John Clarkson doubled in two runs, but Lawrence looked as if it would escape when pitcher Scott Pierson, pressed into playing centerfield, fanned for the second out. Not his time.

Sexton singled to drive in another run and stole second base, Dave Arendas tripled home two more runs, Villani singled and stole second and Rumer singled in the eighth and go-ahead run — all with

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

John Bernard — Jey Bernard

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Here's an amazing baseball oddity ... The 1965 Dodgers – although they won the pennant – had such a weak-hitting team that their pitcher, Don Drysdale, had a higher batting average than any of the regular players who started the World Series that season! ... Here were the averages of the Dodger starters: (1b) Wes Parker, .238 ... (2b) Jim Lefebvre, .250 ... (ss) Maury Wills, .286 ... (3b) Jim Gilliam, .280 ... Outfield: Ron Fairly, .274, Willie Davis, .238 and Lou Johnson, .259 ... (c) John Roseboro, .233 ... Meanwhile, pitcher Drysdale's batting average that season was .300.

I bet you didn't know ... that many health insurance plans for families do not cover children after they reach 19 years old and/or finish college.

Here's a baseball puzzler for you ... Suppose a batter is at the plate with 2 strikes ... The next pitch comes in, and the batter swings and misses – but, at the same time he swings, the ball hits him ... What's the ruling? ... Is it a strike out, or is it a hit-batsman with the batter entitled to go to first base ... Even some players aren't sure of the rule, but baseball rules say if you swing and miss at a pitch even though the ball hits you, it's not a hit-batsman, but it is a strike.

We Pioneered a Profession

AFTER

In 1967 we displayed photographs of our clientele to introduce Men's Hairstyling and, of course, were quickly discovered by women. A year later, by popular demand, we become the first Unisex Hairstyling Studio in New Jersey. Eventually, the State of New Jersey invited us to assist in formulating a new 'Hair' profession by homogenizing both state boards governing Barbers and Beauticians.

We've spawned over fifty Unisex Salons, successfully owned and operated by former Princetonian employees. We've won awards ... been called 'unique' by the Princeton Historical Fact Book and identified as "pioneers in the hair profession" by the New York Times.

We're professionally consistent ... not pretentious or expensive. Make an appointment and discover why we remain the most popular hairstyling studios in our communities.

two out.

The big hit, said Bender, was Ender's little blooper. "All season long we've been hitting line drives, never getting the dinky hit," continued Bender. "When Ender's hit fell in it seemed to trigger everybody."

Walker added an insurance run in the next inning, belting a solo four-bagger over the 385-foot sign in left center. It was needed because the losers added a final run in the seventh.

Arendas lashed a triple for Post 76 and Rumer, Villani and Clarkson all conected for doubles. Clarkson, Villani and Arendas each drove in two runs for the victors.

The sudden turnaround capped a frustrating outing for the Lawrence team, which outhit Post 76, 10-9, and had half as many errors — two to Post 76's four. Most frustrated of all was Lawrence catcher Pat Marshall who had two hits and drove in six of his team's nine runs.

2-for-2 Against Post 313. Earlier in the week, Post 76 had defeated Broad Street Park 313 twice in two days, 12-6, and 5-4.

In last Wednesday's second game, Post 76 trailed by one run when it scored five unearned runs in the third. BSP pitcher Jim Smith lost his control by walking the first four batters he faced. He followed that with a wild pitch and another walk before being yanked.

The first pitch by reliever Ron Koszytu was hit to right field but Mike Walsh failed to make the catch for an error. His throw to home was dropped by catcher Brent Berrian for another error, allowing the fourth run to score. John Blankstein then singled home the fifth Post 76 run in the inning.

Post 76 wasted little time in adding to its margin. It pushed three more runs across in the next inning and four more in the following to take a commanding 12-3 lead.

Ender, Villani and Arendas all contributed doubles to Princeton's nine-hit attack and Ender, Rumer and Villani combined to drive in seven runs. Pierson got the win.

The previous day, Post 76 found itself in a familiar position: behind. This time 4-1.

John Blankstein was the game's hero for Post 76 when his pinch-hit double with two on tied the score at 4 and Sexton then drove in Blankstein with the winning run.

Jordan started for Post 76 and worked the first four innings, leaving with an 8-3 advantage. Walker pitched the fifth, Scott Pierson the sixth and Walker came back to pitch the final inning.

HIGH AND LOW: Princeton Post 76 baserunner Scott Pierson takes the low road and scampers back safely to first as Lawrence first baseman Pete Barlow fields high pickoff attempt, in action during Friday's 10-9 victory over Lawrence.

Leschly Stages Rally To Win MSTA Tourney

It was a nice graduation present for Mark Leschly.

The former number one player on the Princeton High School team who graduated Friday won the Boys' 18-and-under title at the Middle States Tennis Association's Summer Championships held during the weekend in Berwyn, Pa.

And the unseeded Leschly did it in a way that would have drawn a salute from Frank Merriwell.

First, Leschly upset George Zink of Lancaster, the top seed, in the semi-finals. He shocked Zink by taking the first set, 6-1, and then the match by holding on to win the second set, 7-6.

In the finals, Leschly faced a familiar opponent, third-seeded Lyle Menendez of Princeton Day School, the defending tournament champion. In five previous matches against his town nemesis, Leschly, who will enter Harvard in the fall, had never defeated Menendez.

Menendez swept through the first set, 6-1. He was leading in the second, 5-3, and was at match point. Lights out time for Leschly.

It never happened. Leschly dug in and staved off five match points.

Playing with a loose, I've-got-nothing-to-lose abandon, Leschly attacked Menendez with a series of winners to tie the set at five. He reeled off four straight games to win the set, 7-5, and tie the match.

In the third set, Leschly rolled on to a 5-2 lead before Menendez staged a rally of his own to tie the decisive set at 5. The pressure on both players was intense.

Leschly responded with some glittering backhands to hold his serve and then broke Mennedez in the next game to take the set, 7-5, and the MSTA crown.

Leschly's assessment after the match: "This is probably the best tournament I've ever had. This is the best tennis I've ever played."

Arendas Named Recipient Of William Clarke Trophy

Princeton University baseball player Dan Arendas has been named the recipient of the school's William J. Clarke Trophy for the fourth consecutive year. The trophy is "awarded annually in memory of William J. Clarke, varsity baseball coach for thirty-four years, to the player winning the highest score in the following points: hitting, fielding and outstanding plays per game."

Arendas topped all Tigers in 1986 with a total of 47 hits, nine of which were doubles and three of which were triples. The senior center fielder also paced Princeton with 13 stolen bases (15 attempts), 26 runs scored, and 137 at bats. His .453 slugging percentage and .343 batting average ranked him first and second, respectively, among Princeton's regulars.

One of the greatest players in Princeton history, Arendas enjoyed a banner career. He graduated with new school career standards for total hits (202), doubles (48), runs batted in (107), and at bats (555) among others. He was selected to the All-Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League first team for three of his four seasons and was the EIBL Player of the Year after an outstanding season in 1985. The '85 campaign saw Arendas rack up a .440 batting average, 21 doubles, and 45 runs scored. All three marks were new season records at Old Nassau.

A native of West Windsor, N.J., Arendas is a graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. In early June, Arendas was selected by the New York Yankees in the 17th round of the amateur baseball draft. He is with the Yankees' Oneonta (N.Y.) farm club of the New York-Penn League.

Ficarro's Half Game Out In Mercer Softball Race

Steve Ficarro's Auto Body, the Princeton-based women's softball team in the Mercer County Women's A League, climbed to within a half-game of first place last week with a pair of victories.

Ficarro's blanked Dot's Girls, 10-0, and blasted Vermeer North Atlantic, 14-4, for an 11-3 mark. Tied for first with 11-2 records are Miller Beer and 3 Seasons.

Ficarro's will next oppose 3 Seasons on Thursday at 6:30 at Mercer County Park's Field 3.

In its win over Dot's Girls, Ficarro's combined the six-hit pitching of winning hurler Clare Baxter and a 15-hit attack. Debbie Smyth and Grace Durland each had three hits in three at bats for the victors (Smyth including a triple in hers) while Cindy Lombardo, Baxter and Sandi Hibbs all had two hits. Baxter aided her own cause by driving in five runs.

In trouncing Vermeer, Ficarro's unloaded a number of extra-base hits. Dee Discavage connected for a double and triple in going 3-for-3; Baxter homered and drove in three runs; Doreen Ragazzo homered and singled; Diane Kelly doubled and singled in three appearances and Durland had two hits in two at bats.

Baxter picked up the easy win. Both contests were stopped when the 10-run rule was invoked.

Two From Here Excel In AAU Junior Olympics

Aaron Burt and Benji Payne of Princeton had impressive performances in the New Jersey AAU Junior Olympics State Championship Meet held this month at Millburn High School.

In competing against hundreds of children from around the state, Burt finished second in the junior division (13-14) high jump, with a jump of 5-2. Payne, competing in the bantam division (9-10) finished third in the 100 meter dash in 14:10 and fourth in the 50 meter in 7:40.

Lind and McCarter Earn von Kienbusch Award

Princeton University seniors Betsy Lind and Sue McCarter were awarded the C. Otto von Kienbusch Sportswoman of the Year Award, the school's highest accolade for senior female athletes.

Presented in memory of the Princeton Class of 1906, this award goes annually to a "senior woman of high scholastic rank who has demonstrated a general proficiency in athletics and the qualities of a true sportswoman."

Lind is arguably the most versatile and successful swimmer in Princeton history. The holder of five individual university records and the co-holder of three school relay standards, Lind was an All-East performer in each of her four varsity seasons.

She holds the Eastern Women's Swimming League record in the 200 freestyle (1:49.61 — set in 1982) and was part of two EWSL record-setting relay combos. In 1984, she took eighth place in the 100 free at the Senior Long-Course Nationals, thus earning her All-American status. She also competed in both the 1985 and '86 NCAA Swimming and Diving Championship.

McCarter was an outstanding two-sport athlete during her career at Princeton. A three-time first team All-Ivy field hockey player, McCarter holds the Princeton career record for assists in that sport (31). Named the Ivy League Rookie of the Year after her freshman season, McCarter shared 1986 Player of the Year honors with Pennsylvania's Patti Vivial.

She was one of 26 women to earn All-American status in 1982. The talented athlete is also an accomplished lacrosse player. She finished her Princeton career with 82 points (71 goals, 11 assists), was named first team All-Ivy this past season, and earned a second team berth following her junior campaign.

was not helped by Mr. Carnegie's growing wrath, according to this account, that the project was costing many times more than the $134,000 that had been estimated to him, and his dismay at President Wilson's reaction to his gift.

Interest in Land Use. Prof. Breese served on the Township Planning Board and the Princeton Regional Planning Board for 11 years altogether, and he was a member of the original Open Space Commission. He taught at Princeton University and was director of the Bureau of Urban Research for 16 years. His early publications dealing with the United States include studies of the daytime population of central business districts, industrial site selection, regional planning, and accelerated growth in metropolitan fringe areas.

His major focus, however, has been the comparative analysis and growth of large urban areas in developing countries. He has conducted field research under contract in the Middle East, South and Southeast Asia, Africa and South America, and the studies have led to publications such as Urbanization in Newly Developing Countries and The City in Newly Developing Countries.

He was early involved in the preparation of a master plan for the City of Chicago and more recently for Delhi and New Delhi, India. One chapter in his book describes the various master plans for the Princeton University campus. Another contains a brief description of properties not in Princeton, such as Red Lodge, Montana, shared with other institutions and used for field study by students and faculty in geology, botany and related disciplines.

A chapter on Princeton University lands and the community includes two paragraphs pertaining to property taxes:

"The belief that University land is tax exempt is a myth. In fact, the University remains the largest taxpayer in Princeton, since it pays municipal taxes on all of its noneducational property including, but not limited to, married and graduate student housing, faculty and staff housing, Lowrie House, Palmer House, Baker Rink, Palmer Stadium, McCarter Theatre, Lake Carnegie, playing fields, parking lots, private roads and other lands on the campus that are not an operational part of specific buildings used for educational purposes.

"Full taxes are paid on all University residential units situated on private roads in both Princetons. The roads were constructed and are maintained by the University and are heavily utilized by the public."

Roads Not Taken. Prof. Breese provides a wealth of extra information on topics ranging from early burial plots to the first permanent sanitary "convenience," early wooden outhouses having been subject to constant fires. He also speculates on what might have been the consequence of some of the early proposals that were not followed, and the role that chance played in certain land acquisitions.

President McCosh is credited with a deep personal interest in campus planning and beautification, espousing the "peculiarly American and romantic belief stemming from Thomas Jefferson that the country, not the city, is the best place for educating the future citizens and leaders of a republic." — quoted from Donald Egbert's The Modern Princeton (1947).

Princeton University Land 1752-1984 is available at the Princeton University Store for $20.
